Cleveland Heights High—1974—Fiftieth Anniversary Issue

I come to this monstrosity on 13263 Cedar Road. I'm an individual, but I'm not. I'm part of the mass, but separated. I feel lost, sometimes scared. My views aren't stable—my role unsteady . . .

I float through the mainstream of people, pep assemblies and English class. I'm a part of this constant progression, regression.

—Hey, what's happening?
 —New Jeans? Yea, I'm trying to wear them in.
 —Uh, got any money? For what? Pineapple-crumb cookies.

I'm looking, trying to find what ever it is that's just out of my reach. Oh sure, I have fun. I do all those expected and sometimes unexpected activities sophomores are supposedly known for. And it does so much for my morale to hear how well "I've adjusted."

Are you going to try out for . . .

I don't know. Don't you remember that the worst thing next to a junior is a sophomore!

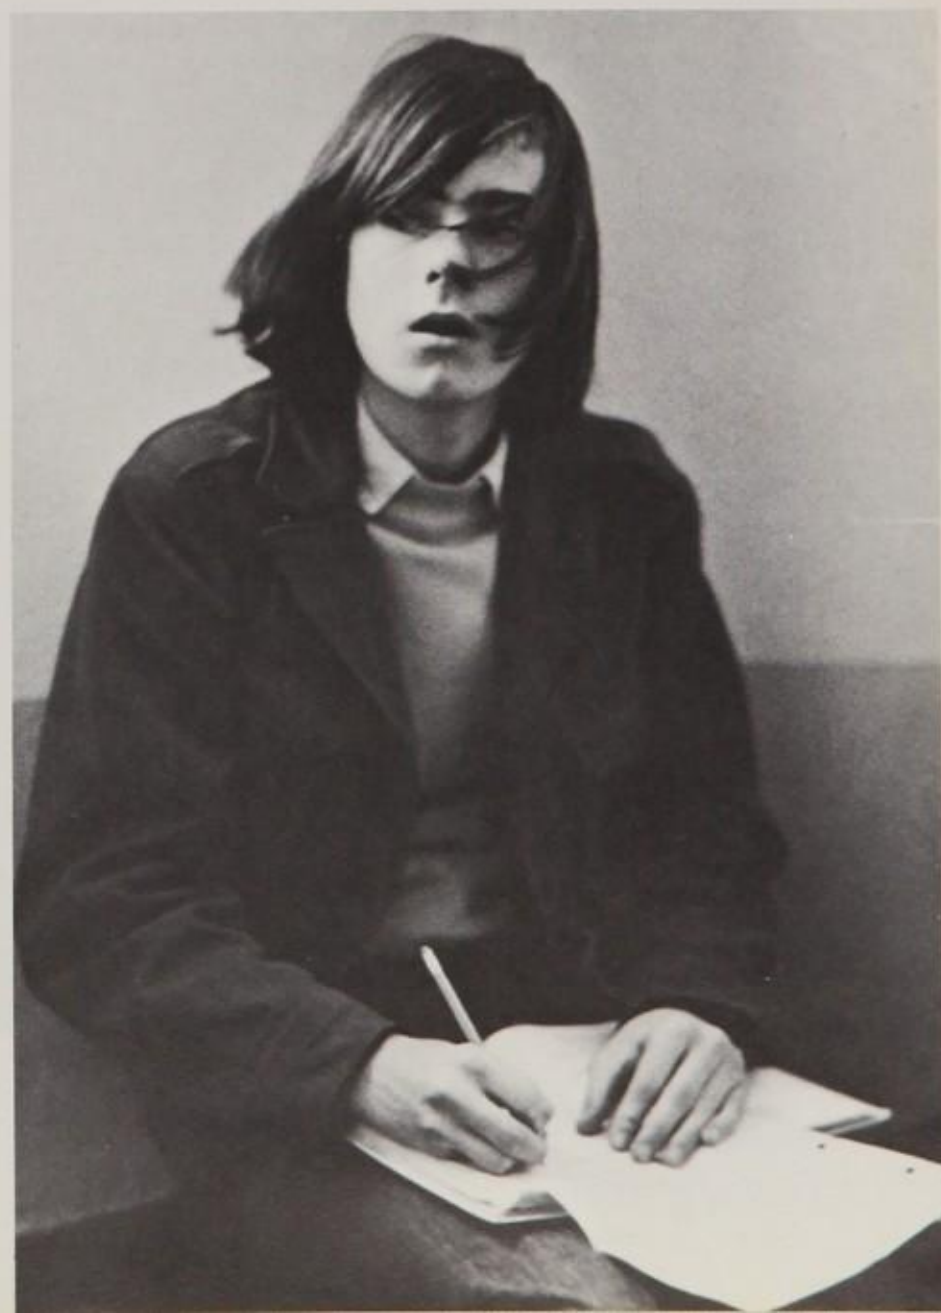

Tonight? After the game? O.K. What did you get?

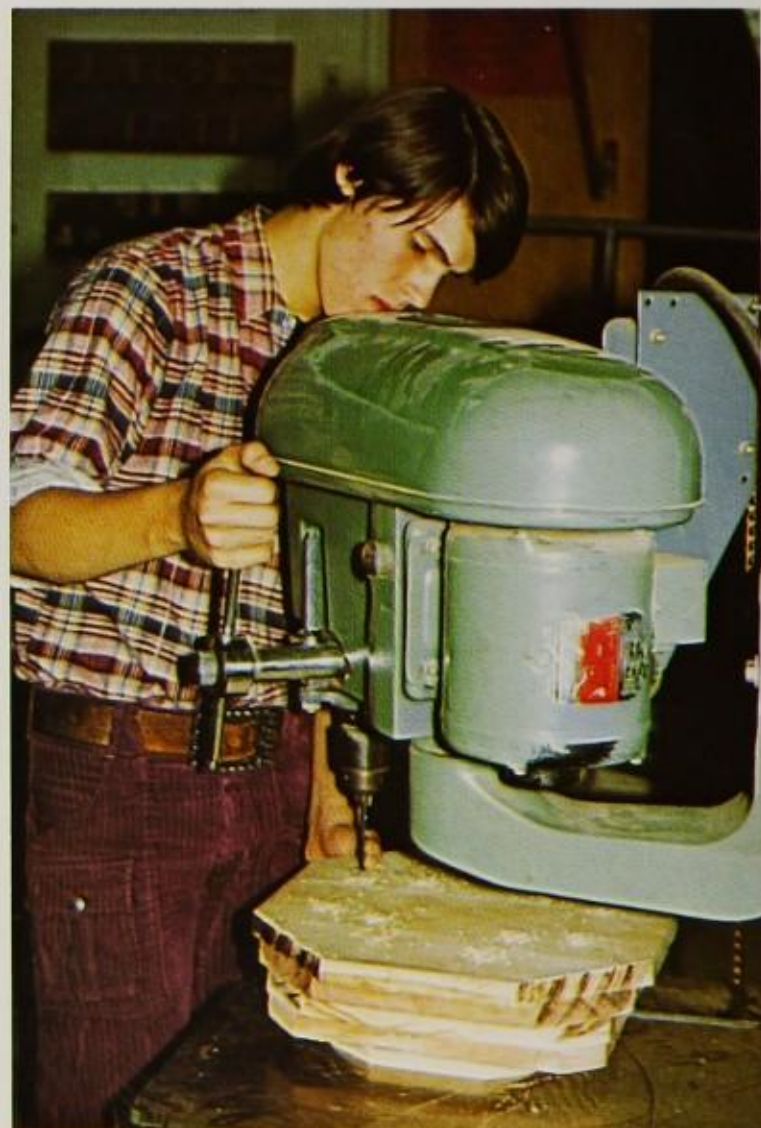

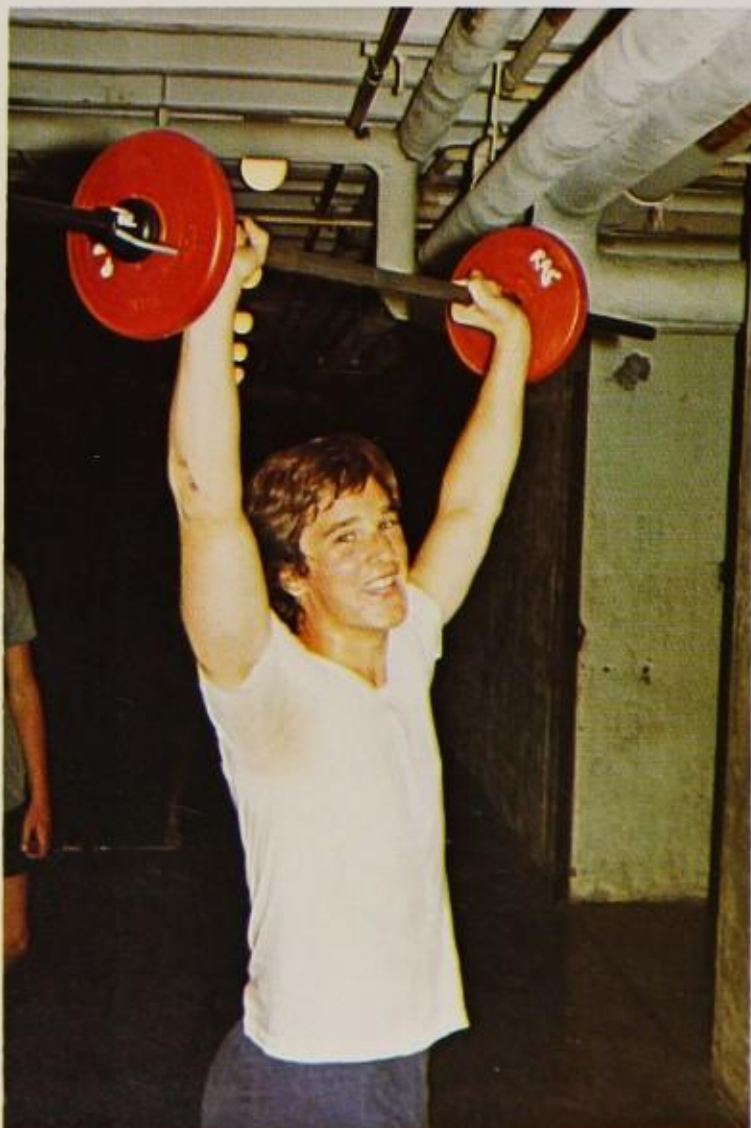

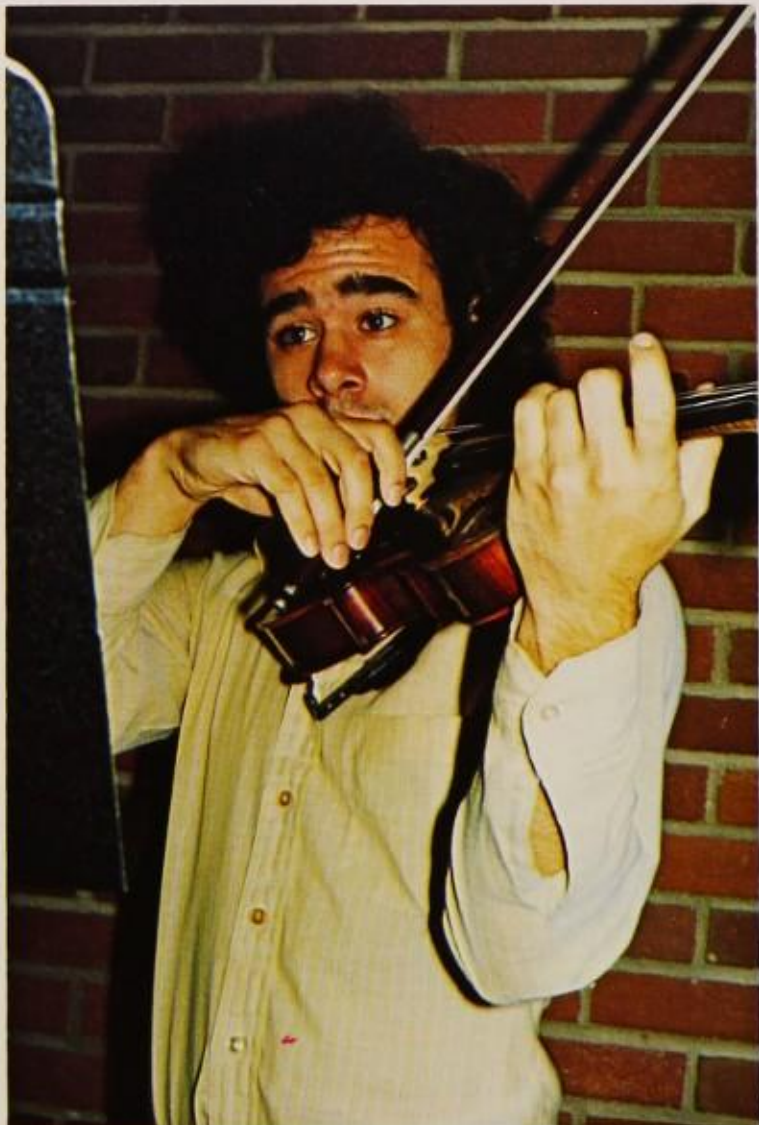

Beer.

Blah. Ah, hello Mr.—! Enjoying the game? Yea, and you?

Yet I'm not content. I'm still looking.

Don't forget class, you're next assignment is . . .

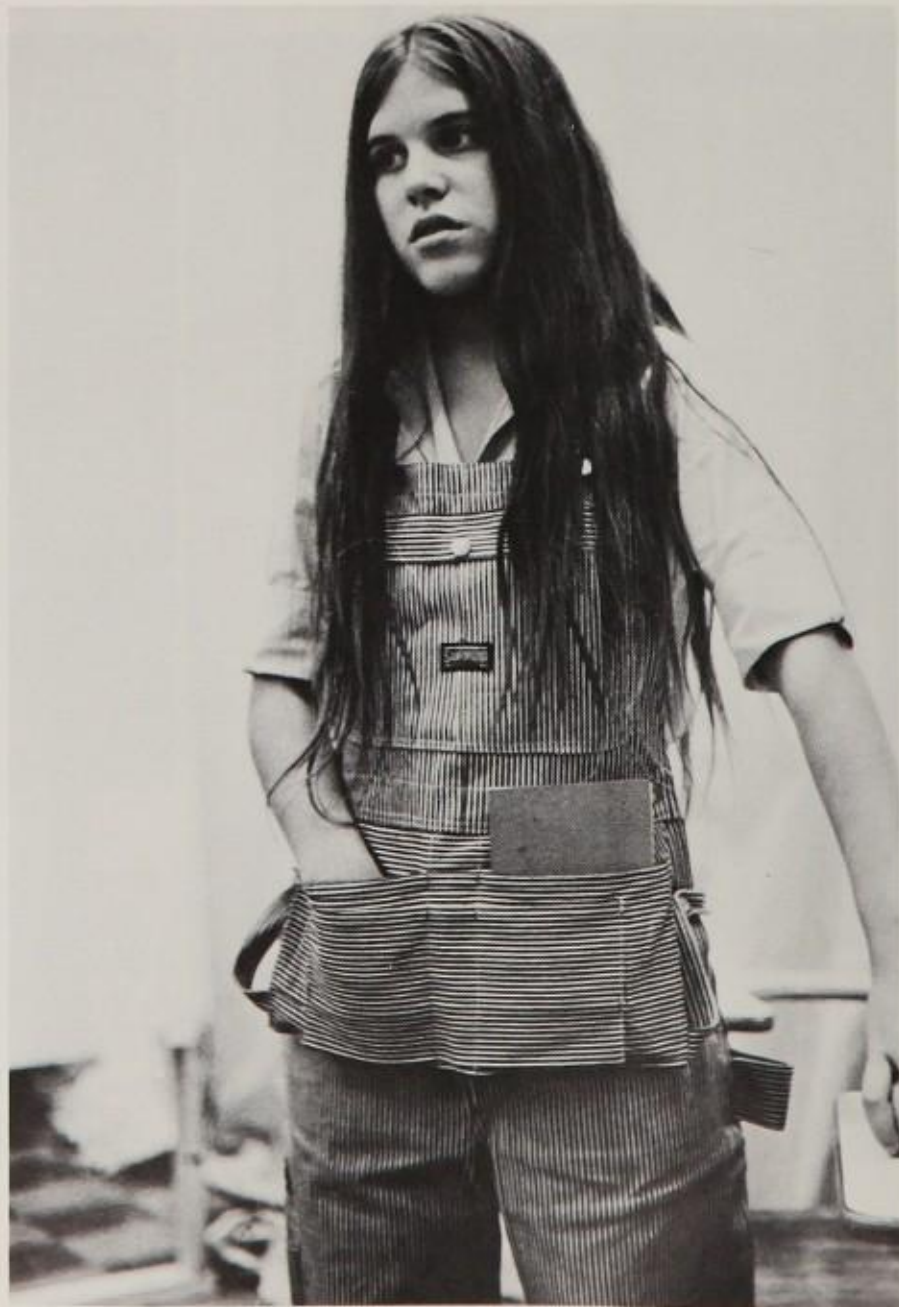

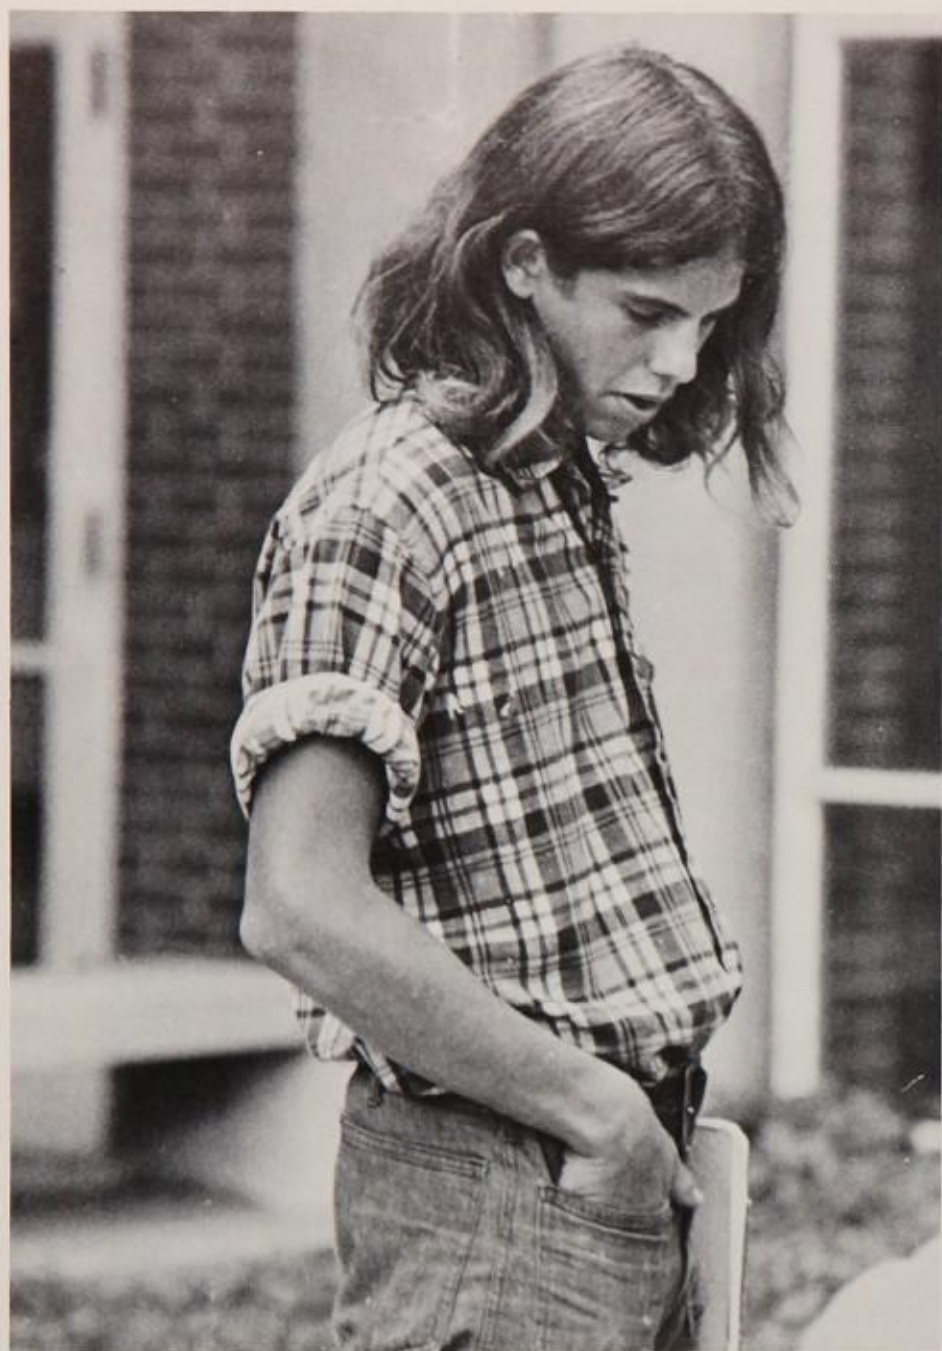

I'm confident now being classified "junior". I'm no longer a first year sophomore. I know where to go and who to see. I'm the safe in-between. But I'm uneasy. Questions. So much of this is a puzzle to me. Why do people do that? What is society? Am I free? Who am I?

—I've got a rehearsal tonight.
 —Oh, come on, skip it.
 —No, I better go. Don't you know, I'm a dedicated member of . . .

Let's get out of this prison.

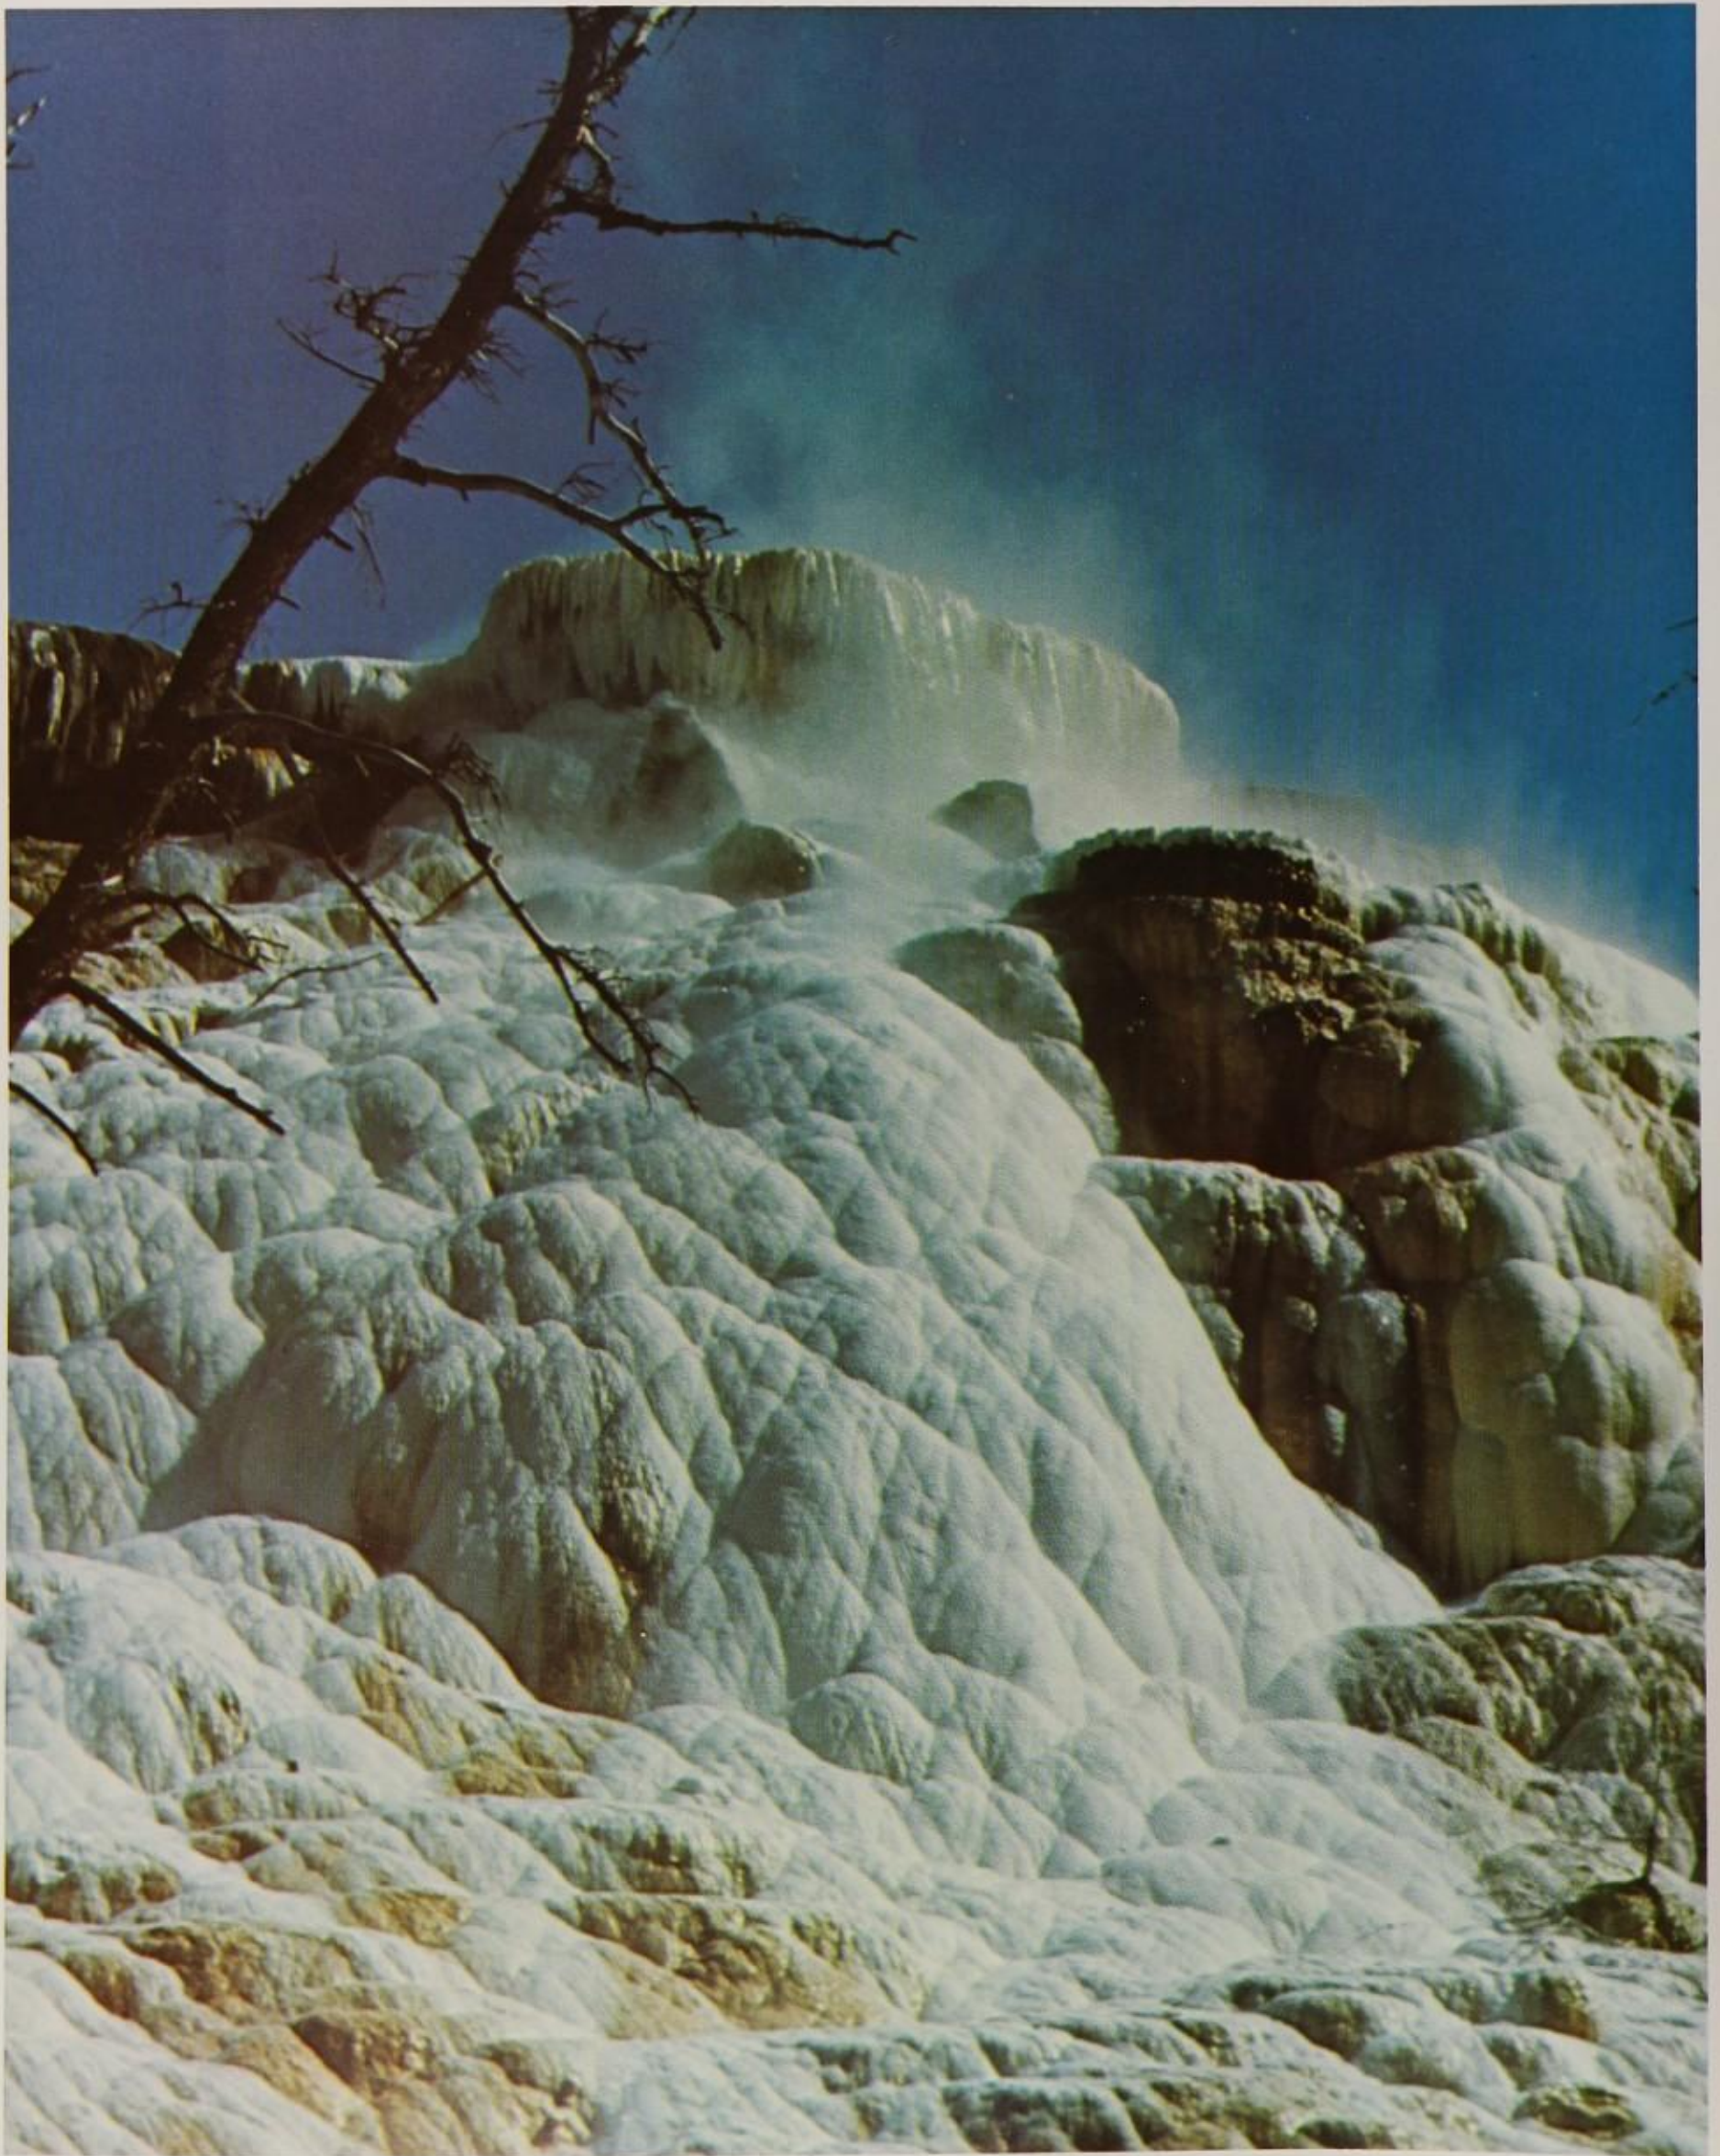

Where do you want to go? Rack and Cue, Fish and Chips or . . .

How am I going to pass this test?

Why do I rack my brains to memorize seven aspects of . . .

Is it worth it?

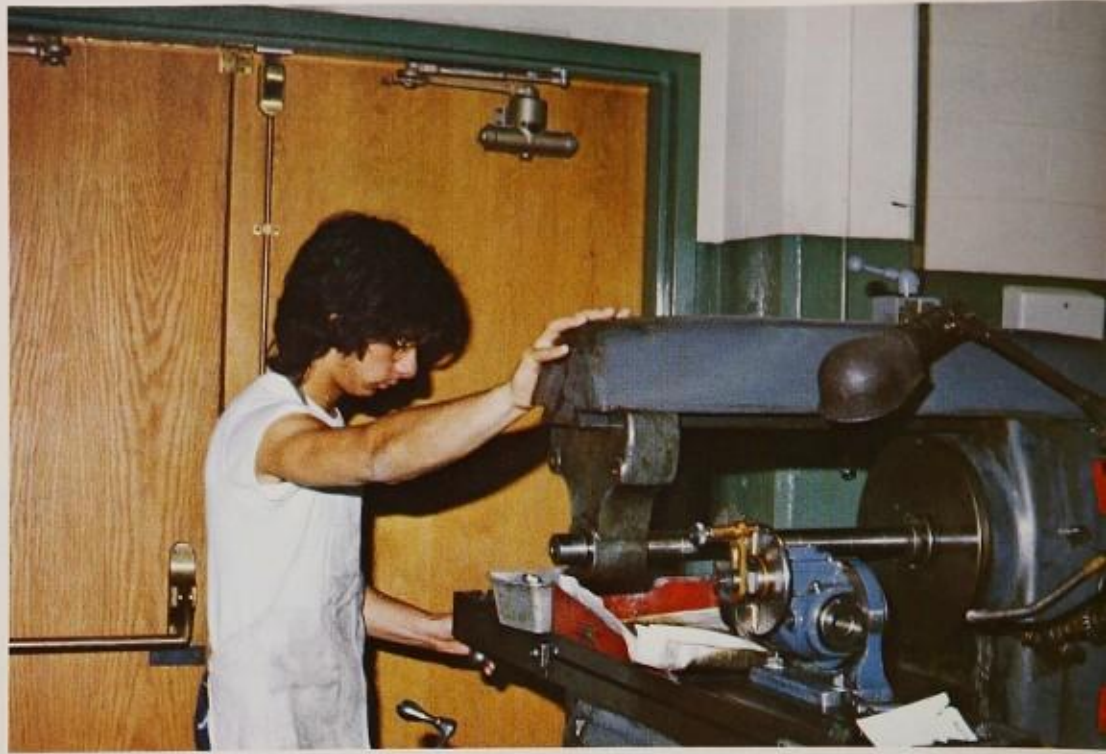

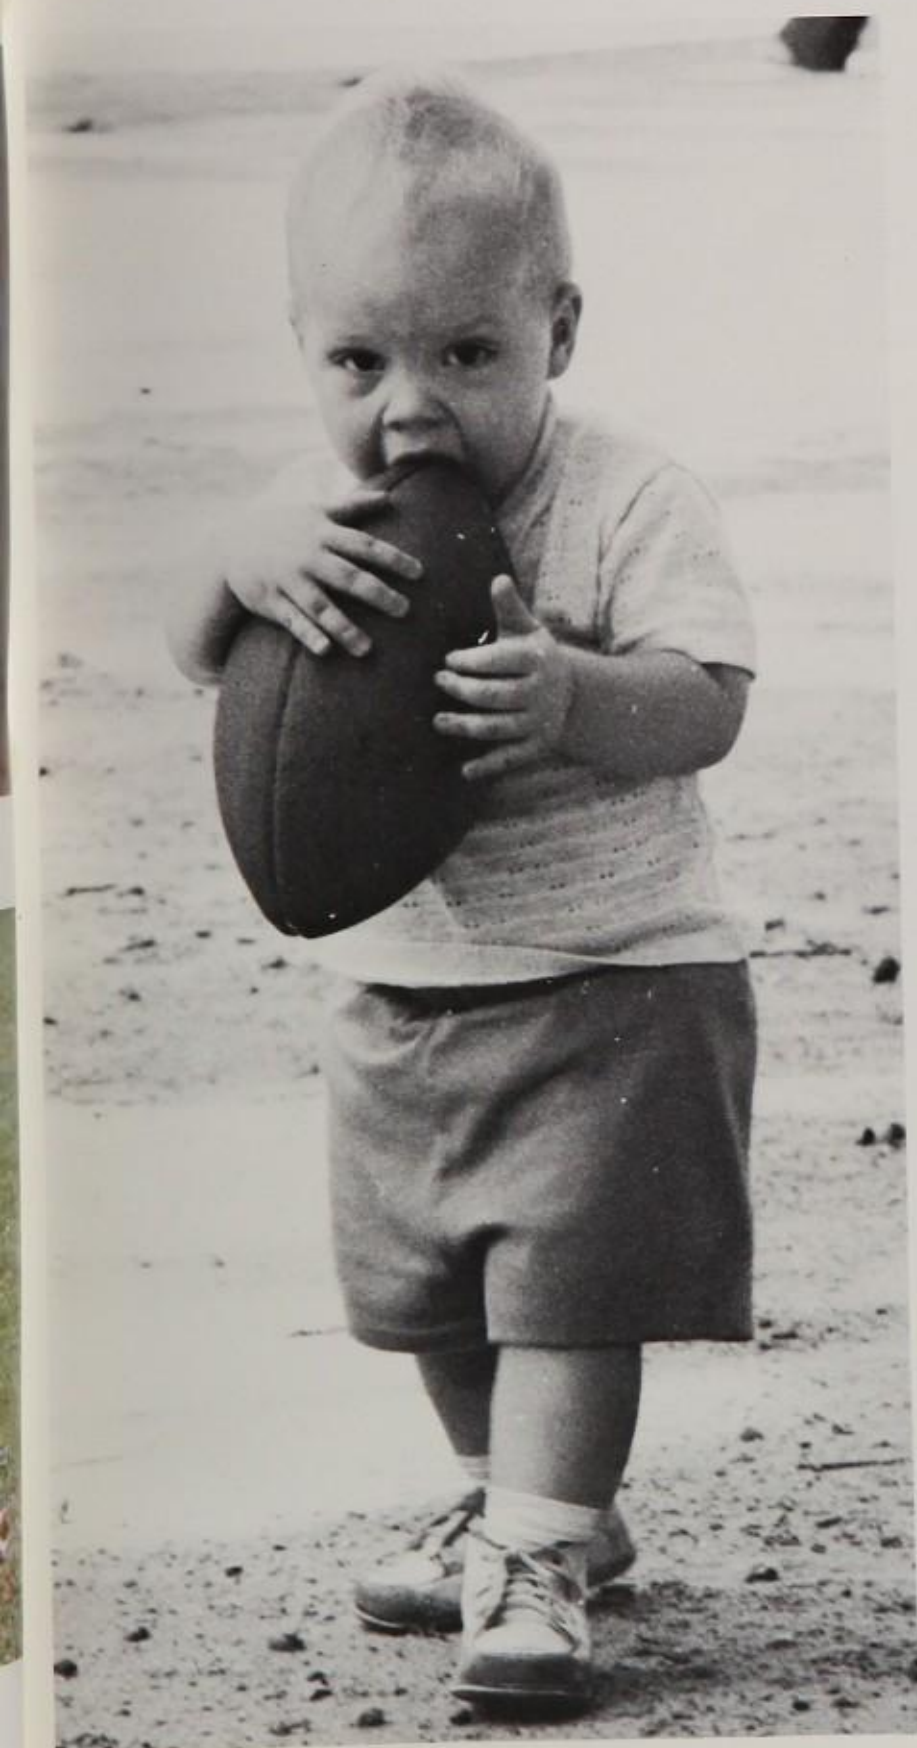

I return in a state of transition. I'm here at this school, but I'm not. My future is too close and it's frustrating to deal with.

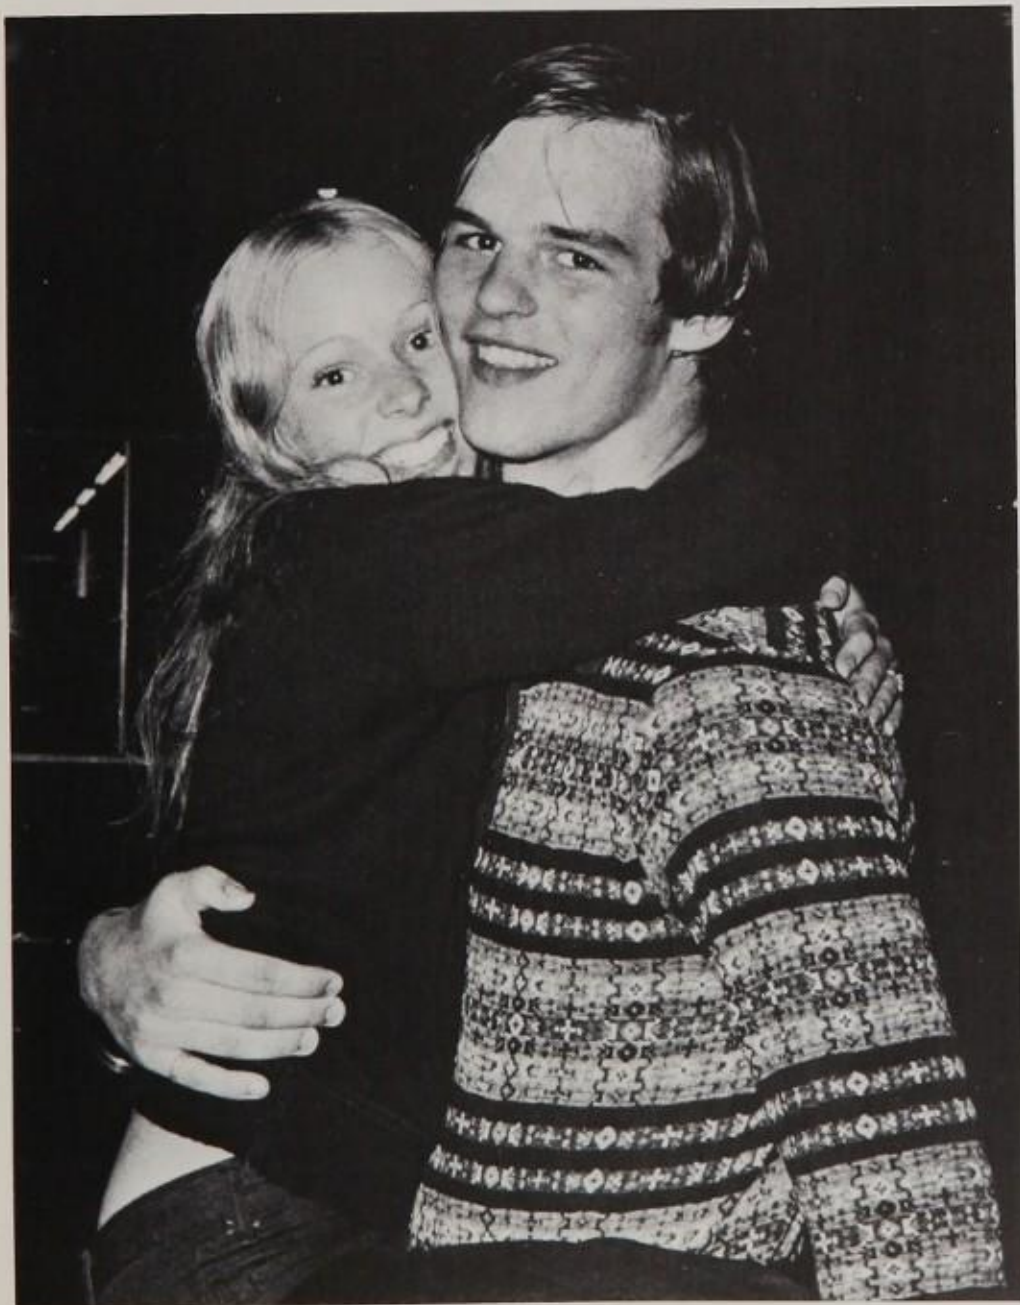

Why do I have to be in a cycle that doesn't stop to breathe?
Isn't it more important to be comfortable,
content?
But to get into school, I've got to take physics, chemistry, analyt, trig, four years of a foreign language . . .
Oh, forget it. Let's get high.

It doesn't upset me to keep being faced with new rules, new ideas, new people—new adjustments. But everytime a part of my life changes, it changes me. And I don't know always how to deal with change. So I become undecided, confused and sometimes hurt in the process. Yet, I recognize the process as part of understanding myself.

Caterpillar

Caterpillar (kat'ẽr pil'ẽr): the first stage in the metamorphosis of a butterfly . . . Redefined in our terms: the beginning . . . that first morning . . . crowded . . . noisy . . . confusing . . . exciting . . .

It seems like all that was ages ago, but it really hasn't been that long. I realize that I've changed. Obviously I've learned a lot, met new people, done new things. But that's not really it. Something more has happened. Maybe it's growth or maturity or sophistication. I can't deny that something has occurred. My friends have changed a lot. So have I.

ACADEMICS

Administration Turns Human . . .

The human relations policy, new building plans and renewed school spirit occupied the efforts of the school administration this year. Mr. Matava considers unity with diversity to be the backbone of Heights High. He stressed the variety in course offerings and activities to be what makes Heights a true cross-section of the community it represents.

The unit system may represent the one place where the Pythagorean Theorem does not hold true. Each unit is a diverse portion of the student body. Each represents a separate class with individual problems and concerns. Yet different as they are, the three units blend together to make Heights High.

22 Make National Merit

Twenty-two deserving Heights High scholars placed as semi-finalists in the 1972 N.M.S.Q.T.-P.S.A.T. To rank as a semi-finalist one must be among the top one-half of one percent of all high school students who take the test. Those who go on to make finalists can win four-year scholarships. With twenty-two students, Heights had the largest number of semi-finalists in northeastern Ohio.

Math

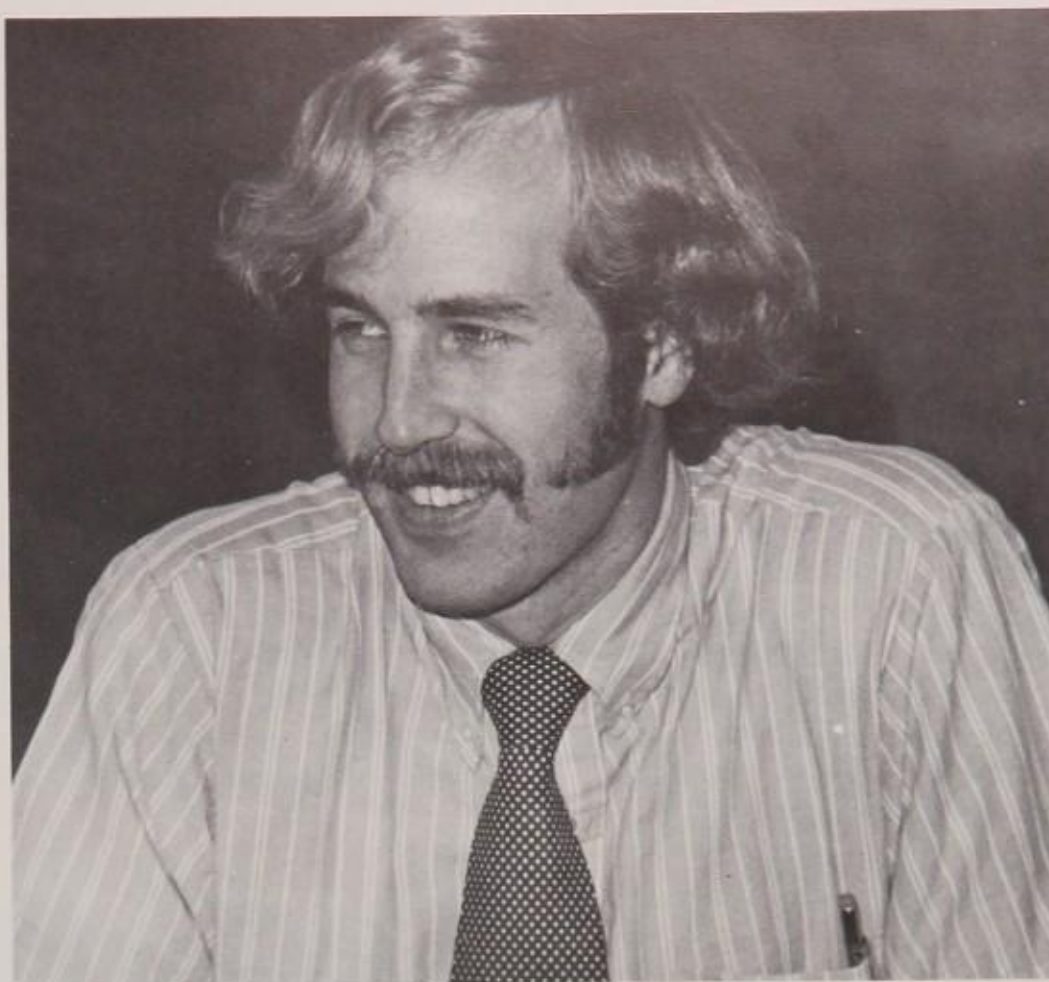

Whether out of genuine love for the Cartesian co-ordinate system or out of desire to fulfill graduation requirements, sooner or later everyone comes in contact with the math department. The faces on these two pages are those of our friends who open our lives to the happy world of isosceles triangles and coterminal angles. Math holds something for everybody: from Algebra I to College Calculus to Computer Science! In the words of Mr. Hall "Mathematics is fun."

Physical Education and Health

Health, as a subject, was always taken for granted. Yet the teachers involved had one of the hardest jobs in the whole school. They had to drop their "puritan feelings" seven periods a day and discuss sex openly. Well, times have progressed as we all know. The course is no longer a teacher lecturing to a group of glassy eyed pupils anymore. Now sex is discussed freely in class and students are either in an independent study program or in a traditional class giving oral reports. Either way, the students learn primarily on their own. Maybe that's why the population is increasing.

Honestly!

Diversity is the motto of the English Department. Offering a variety of courses enabled the department to provide a more specialized education. Students were given the opportunity to choose their courses in the area of their interests. Classes were no longer segregated by grade levels. Seniors realized that many sophomores had much to offer just as sophomores benefited from seniors knowledge. Courses included Ernest Hemingway, Satenism, Science Fiction, Existentialism, research techniques and Utopia.

English is a funny language. A fat chance and a slim chance are the same things.

If memorizing irrelevant data and places is your image of a history class you'll probably be surprised with what you'll find at Heights. Renamed the Social Sciences Department, a myriad of alternative course offerings has been introduced into the basic curriculum. Classes such as psychology, sociology, and anthropology are now available to students as an alternative means for fulfilling history requirements. American History is still a requirement for graduation, although World History has been removed in favor of these new mini-courses.

The Memoirs of Jesse James

I remember all those thousands of hours that I spent in grade school watching the clock, waiting for recess or lunch or to go home.

Waiting: for anything but school.

My teachers could easily have ridden with Jesse James for all the time they stole from me.

Vocational Education

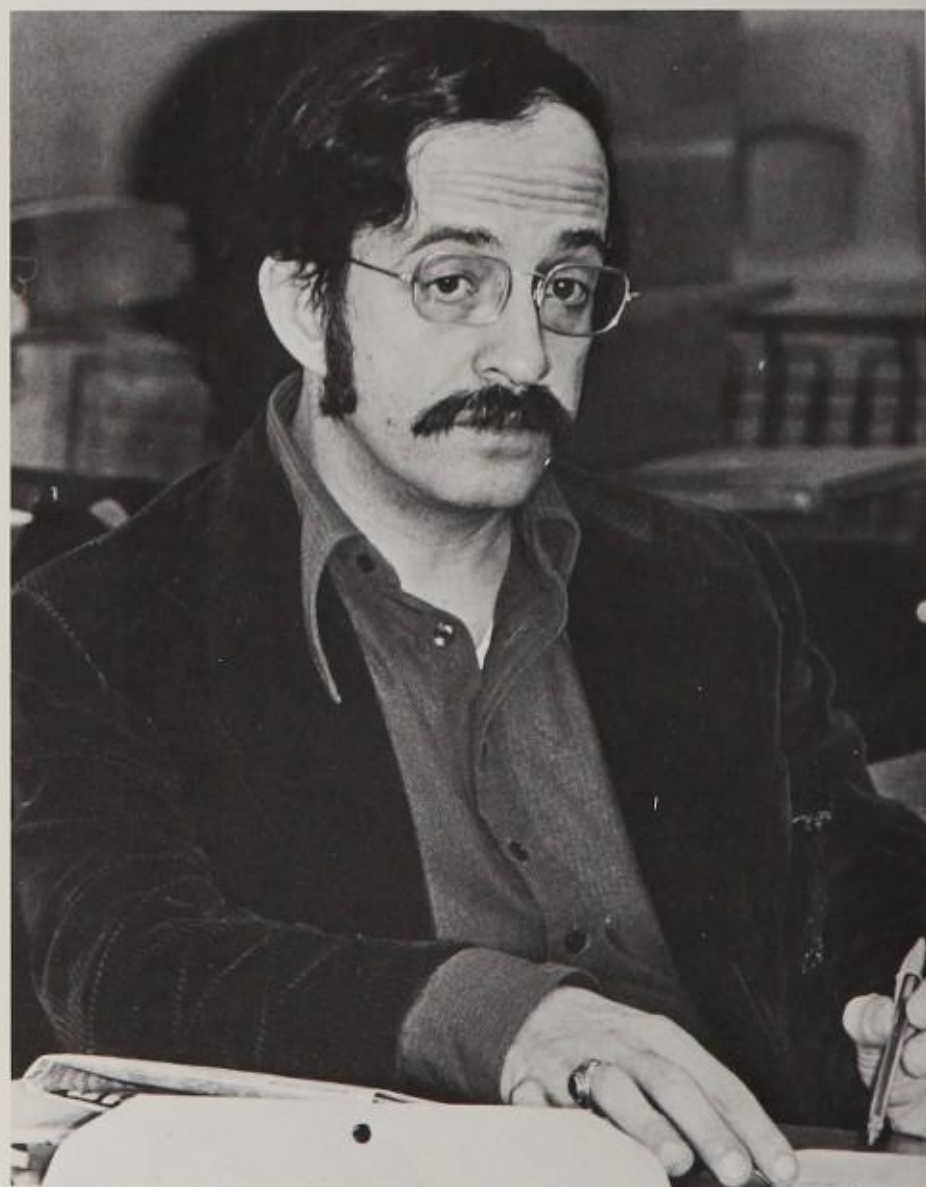

The Heights High Vocational Education department offers five different programs in work-study. The Occupational Work Experience (O.W.E.) provides an opportunity for students to work away from school at various jobs during the afternoon. The Occupational Work Administration (O.W.A.) is a similar program for students under sixteen years of age. For students interested in retail merchandising, the department offers the Distributive Education Clubs of America (D.E.C.A.). Students in this program work primarily in sales at various retail businesses. Still another offering is the Cooperative Office Education program in which participants spend afternoons working as typists, office assistants and other jobs, primarily clerical in nature.

The final program offered by the department provides an opportunity for students to gain experience working in cafeterias, fabric shops, child-care centers and other home-ec oriented jobs through the home economics co-operative.

In each of the programs, students spend two periods a day in class, learning about sales, advertising and other aspects of business. Community merchants are usually very receptive to Vo-Ed students upon whom they can depend. This year about 150 students participated in work-study. They received both credit toward graduation and a grade for their out-of-school work. With the national trend toward practical education and the growing popularity of work-study programs at Heights, the Vocational Education department anticipates success for its new Vo-Ed wing and expanded program.

Readin' Ritin' and Russian? That's not how the old saying goes. For many Heights High students, however, study of a foreign language rounds out the academic schedule. The language department offers courses in Russian, Hebrew, Spanish, French, German and Latin. The classes are designed to enhance student knowledge and appreciation of foreign culture. After all, in the words of the poet: Only he who studies the world around him can hope to understand himself. Anonymous.

Business Education

The business department's program was altered this year by the introduction of nine-week mini-courses. The traditional courses, including the ever-popular Business Math and Shorthand, are all there, but several other selections are now available. Courses on taxes, buying, investments, filing, insurance, cashiering, and advertising represent the Business department's attempts to further meet student needs and to be increasingly relevant to their interests. The courses have been quite well-received as the increased enrollment indicates. The department hopes to expand the new program next year.

Special Education

The Special Education department? What's that? If you don't know the answer, you're like the majority of people in the Heights community who are unaware of a highly specialized department doing a most important job at Heights High. The staff in Special Education offer three programs of instruction for students.

Foreign-born students who need help in learning English are aided in becoming integrated into the school. Intensive Instruction (I.I.) is a program that individualizes education for the student. In E.M.R. other pupils who may need special handling, or who have learning difficulties are offered the means of making the most of their educational opportunities. Although the Special Education Department does not obtain particular recognition, the services it provides may well be among the most meaningful at Heights.

Science

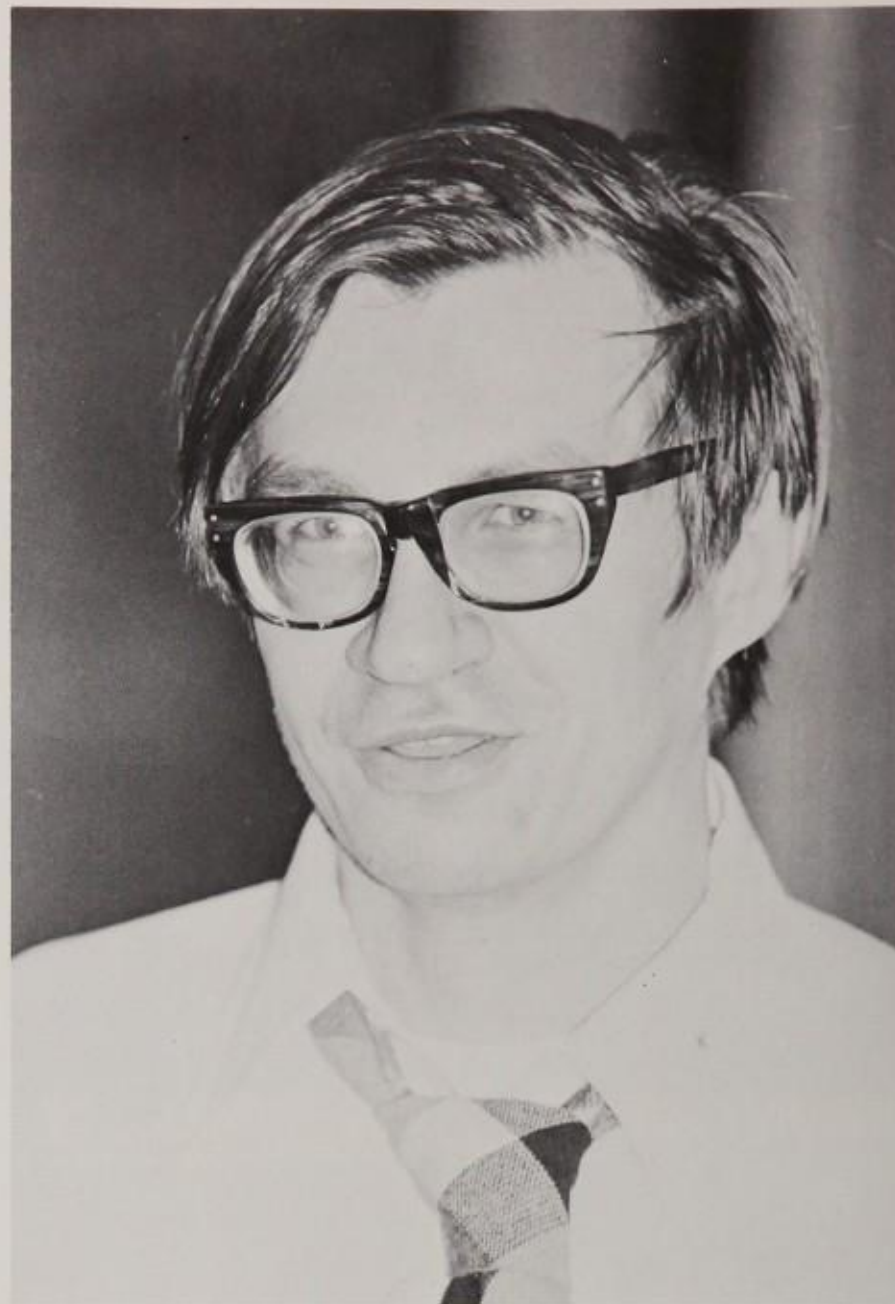

If you ask Mr. Williams, head of the Science Department, he will assure you that his department is the finest at Heights High. As evidence, he points to the large number of students who have been awakened to the challenge of Science through their courses at Heights. The Science Department has not rested on past accomplishments, however, but is alert to the needs of today's students. By using skills and interests of the various teachers in the department, a number of alternative and mini-courses have been developed to supplement the traditional courses. Students are thus enabled to pursue their interests in a particular area in greater depth or to undertake a specialized study such as Botany or Human Genetics.

New School

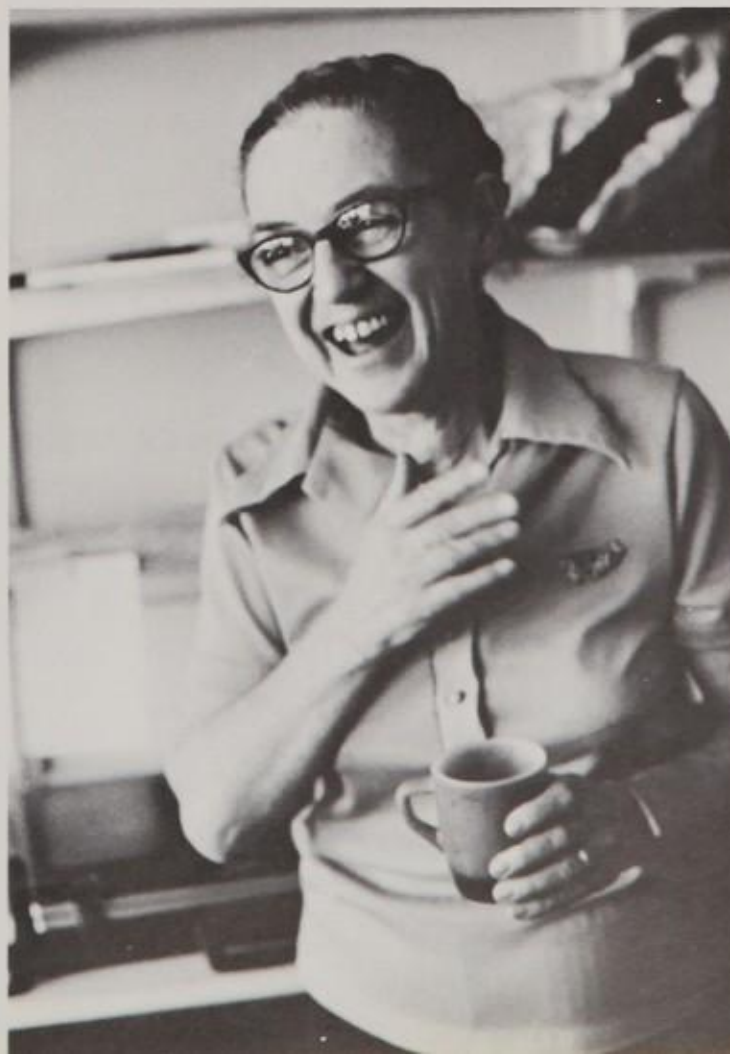

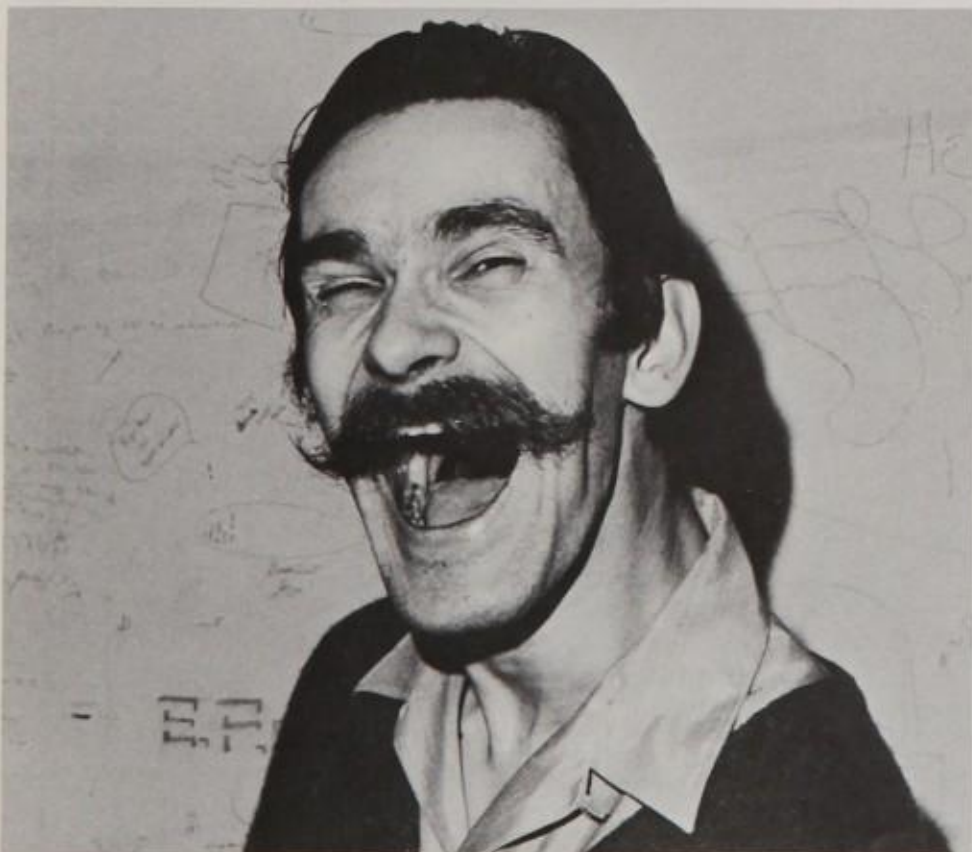

... an alternative education program involving 300 students and twenty teachers.

... a chance to have a say in your own education ... an opportunity to learn through practice and experience.

... a place where you can study in areas of your own interest ... the traditional stuff is there if you want it, too.

Mr. Bob Schwartz

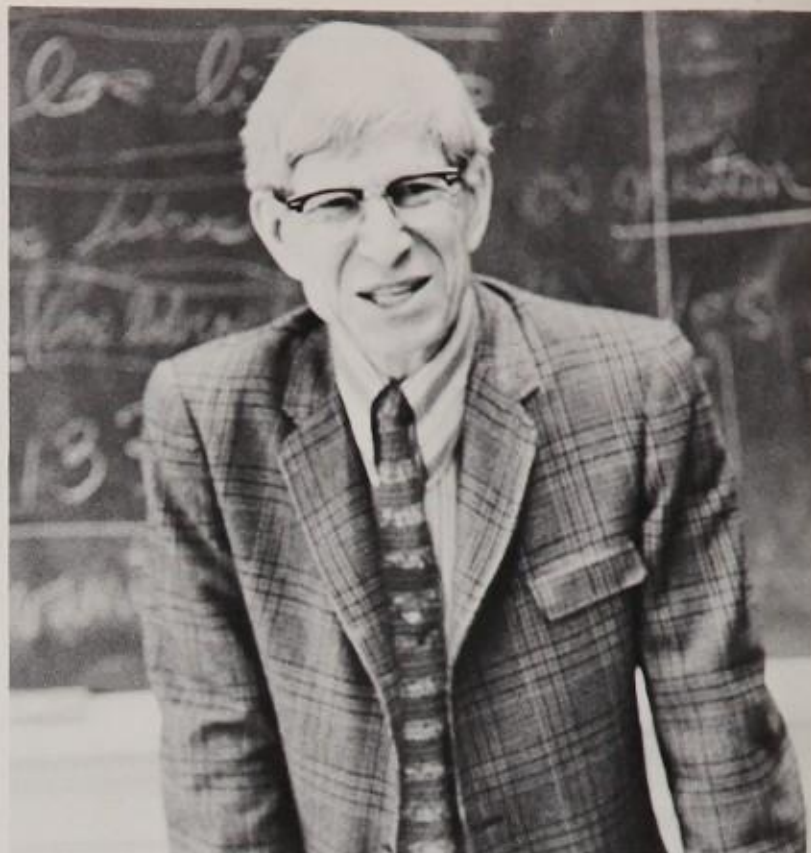

Ms. Evelyn Gutfeld

...New School is divided into two communities of learners of about 150 students each. Students take a variety of student and staff-run courses. They also make use of community resources in apprentice-type learning experiences.

...As far as work goes, it's a lot like traditional school. Some kids goof off. Some work pretty hard.

...In New School there is opportunity for closer relationships among students and teachers.

Home Economics—Industrial Arts

Students interested in more practical knowledge find intriguing classes in the Industrial Arts department. To major in the department, students are required to take Survey of Industry in their sophomore year. They are then free to choose from among mechanical drawing, machine shop, power technology, electronics, wood shop and graphic arts for their final two years of study. Recent innovations in Industrial Arts included increased female enrollment and inter-departmental projects. This year New School made use of the graphic arts facilities to print its yearbook.

Several new ingredients enhanced the Home-Economics curriculum this year. Courses in needlecraft, creative stitchery, rug-making, tailoring and knitting augmented basic clothing classes. In addition, students lucky enough to have a class near the Home-Ec rooms were periodically treated to tempting smells of luscious, culinary delights. These aromas emanated from fondues and pastries being prepared in the department's new cooking electives. International cooking, party foods, cooking with meat and baking were among courses added to the cooking curriculum. Popularity of the new electives indicates that the department may have found the pattern to fit student interests and staff resources.

Librarians: Row One: M. Myers, M. Hughes, C. Luoma. Row Two: L. Brinnon, T. Corbusier, S. Titchenal.

The library, traditionally a place for students to get information for a last minute report or to have a quiet nap, has changed into a busy social room. Couples can be seen darting between the 840.9's and the 900's. Backroom card games have become a normality. Our most able and qualified librarians have become police marshalls, threatening eviction if the silence is not retained. There is talk of holding after-game dances up there next year.

M. Teitelman turning himself on.

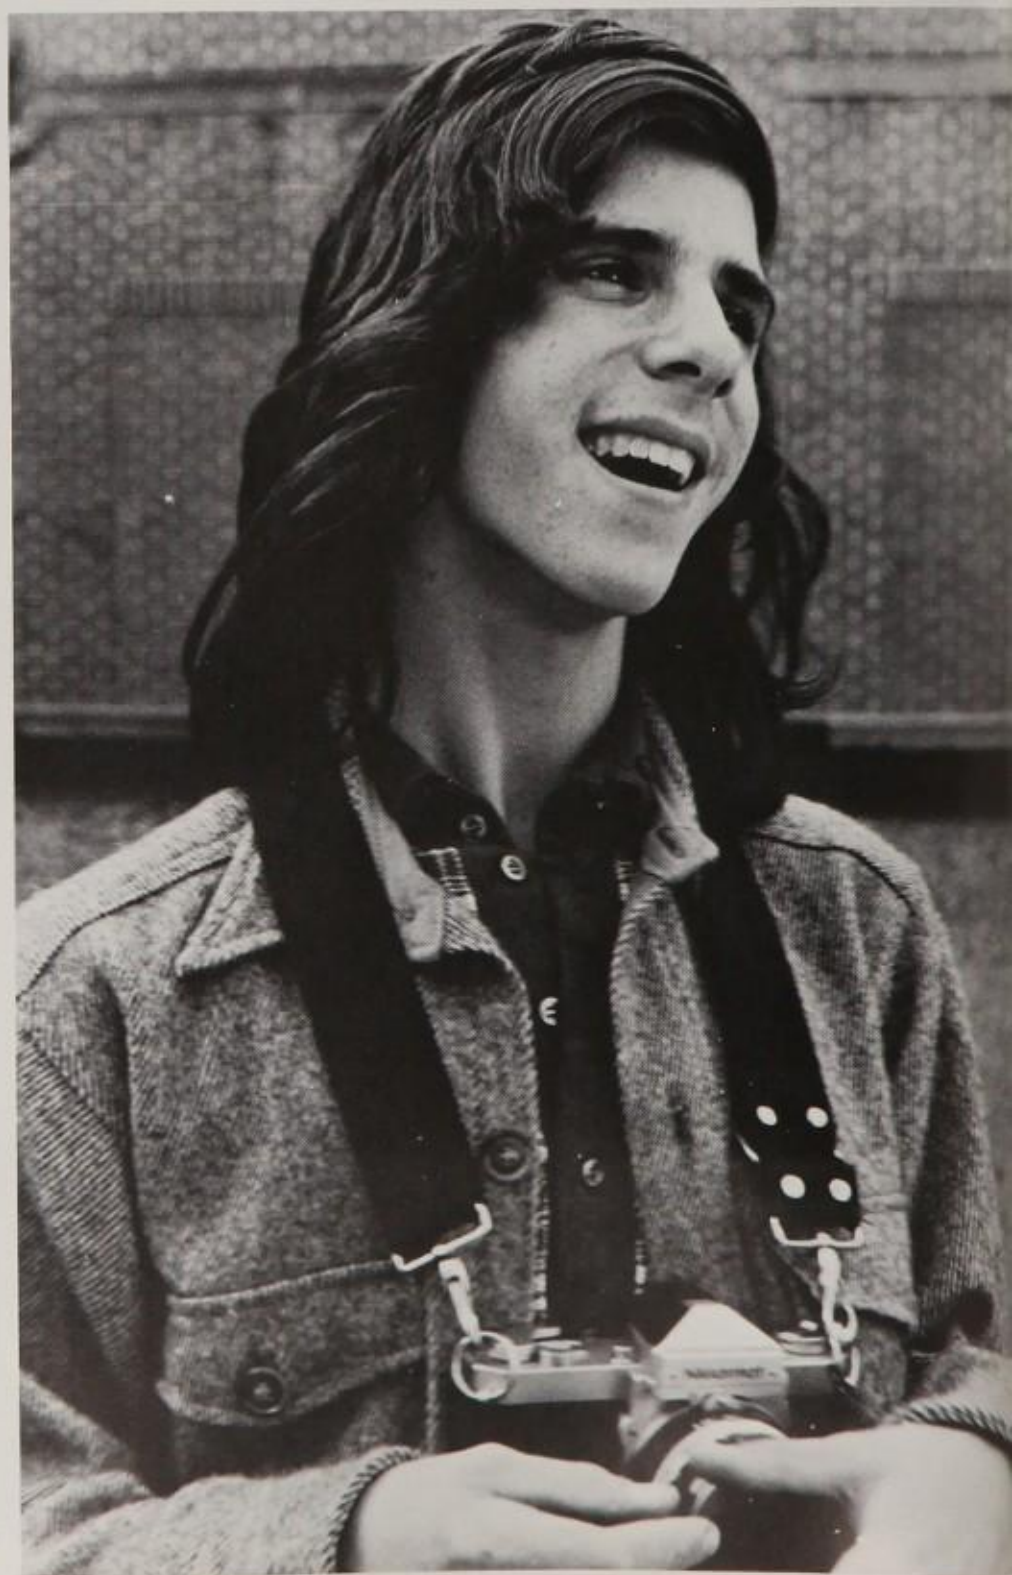

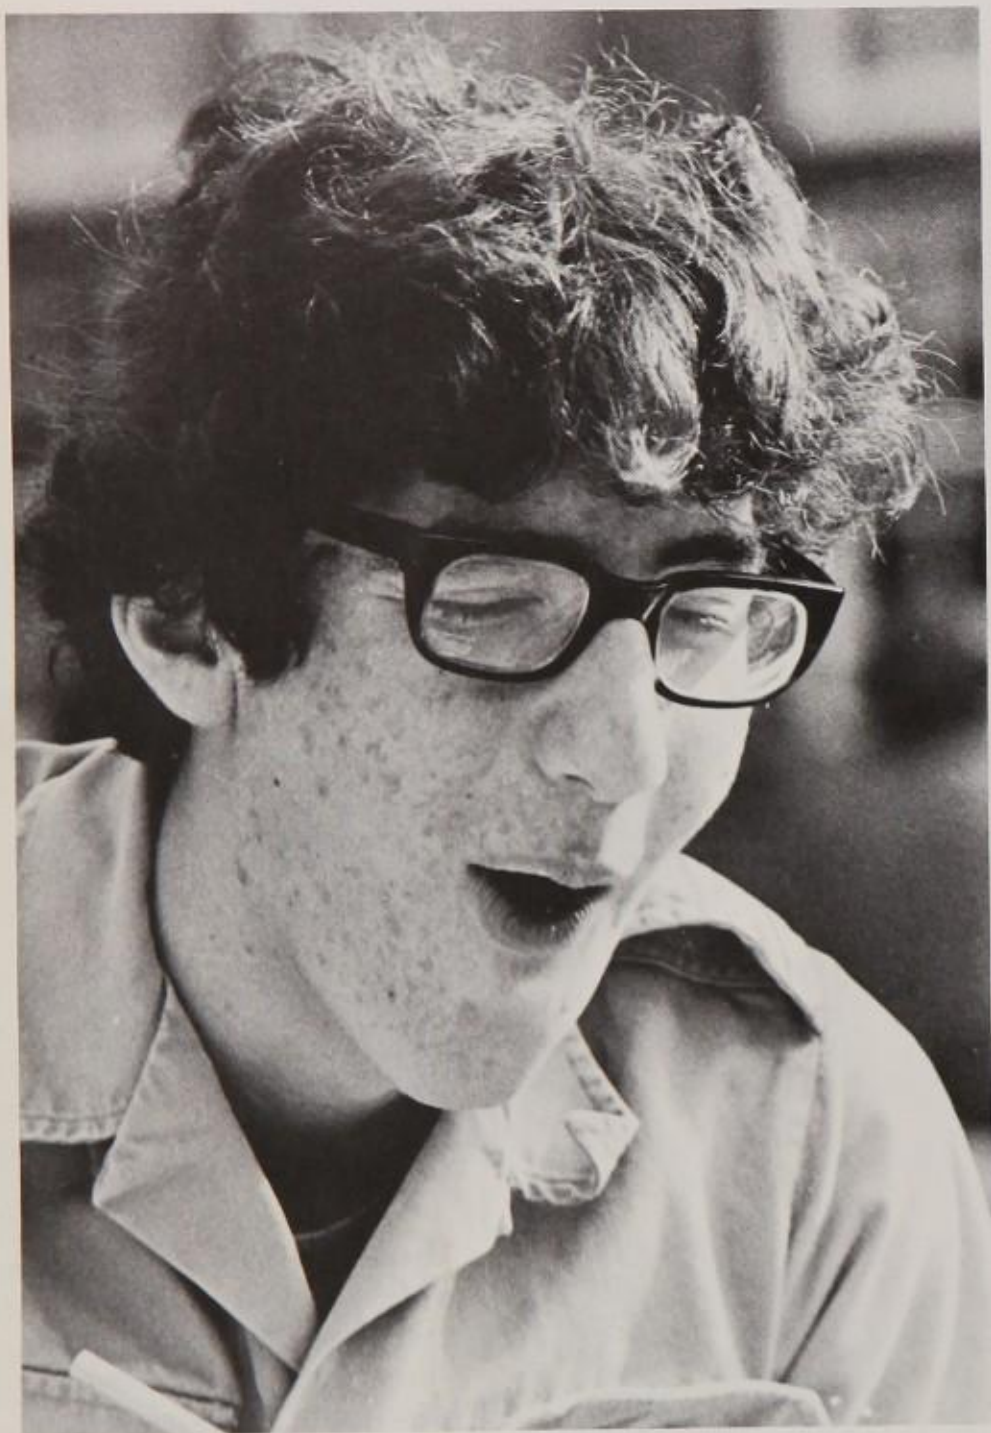

J. Brisbin, the splice of life.

There are those people who infiltrate the hallowed grounds of our library for purposes other than studying or socializing. The Audio-Visual Crew is one such organization. In the small rooms behind the media center, the crew members toil long hours with little recognition.

Under the direction of Mr. Steve Titchenal, these students are involved with making many of the multimedia teaching aids that teachers use. These include tapes, slides, movies and dittoes among others. They also man Heights High School's closed circuit television station which has 4 channels to its credit.

What . . . Me Worry?

Slow down, you move too fast . . .

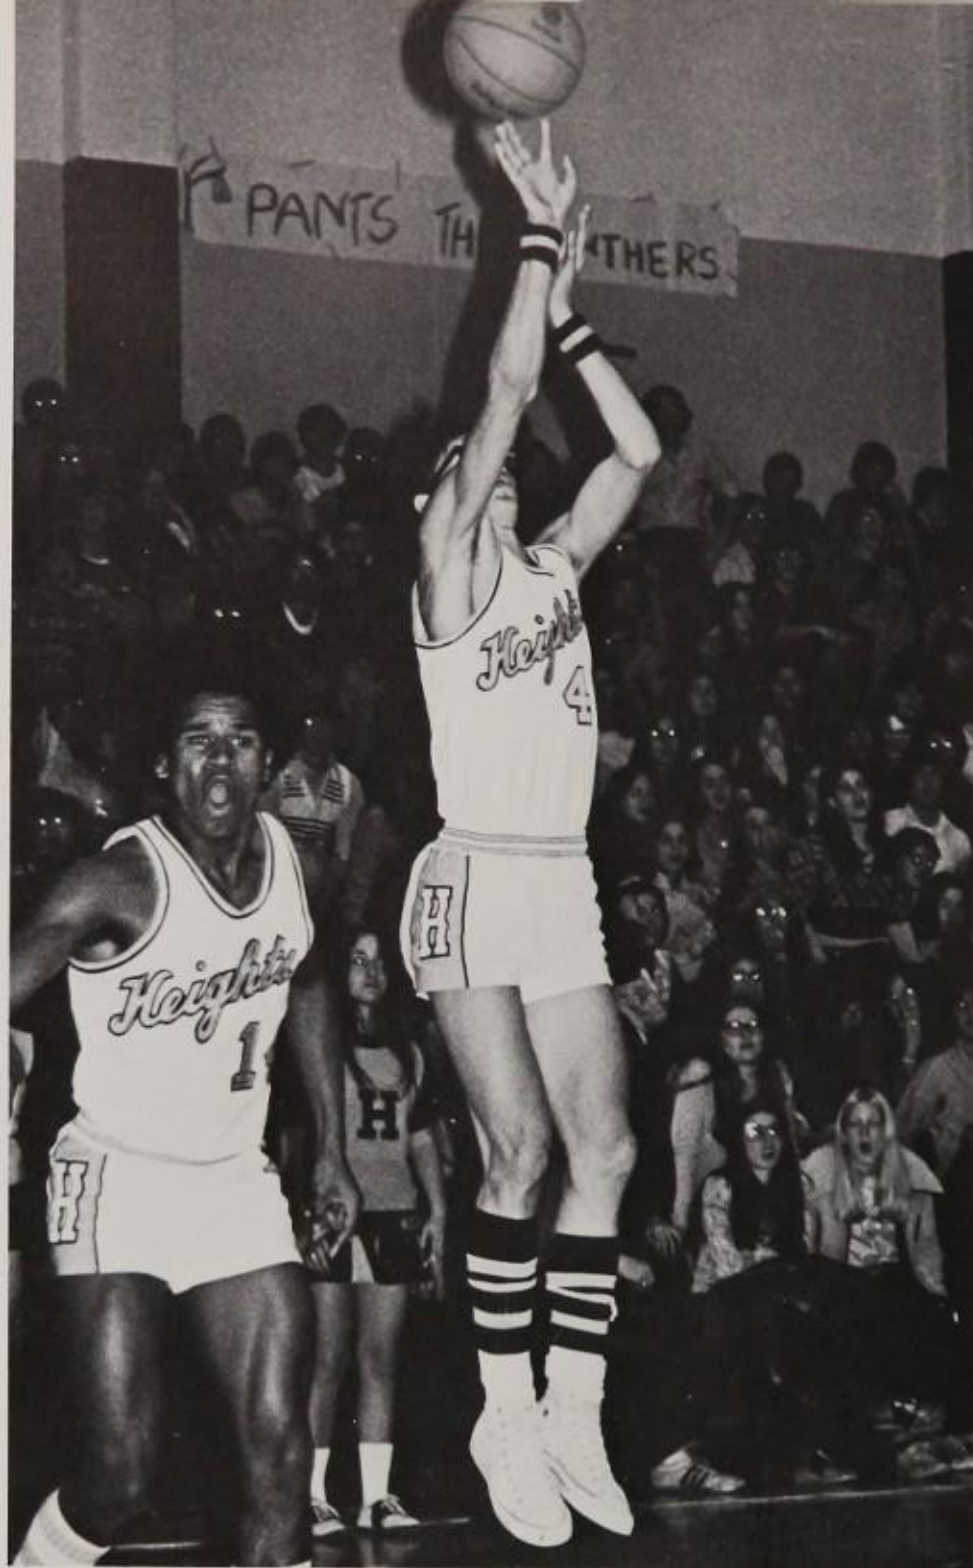

Temporarily separated from the worries of the future, the underclass person passes in and out of each day without much long-range planning. Spurning the scorn, jealousy and taunting jeers of the seniors, the underclass person reassures himself:

JUST WAIT TIL NEXT YEAR!

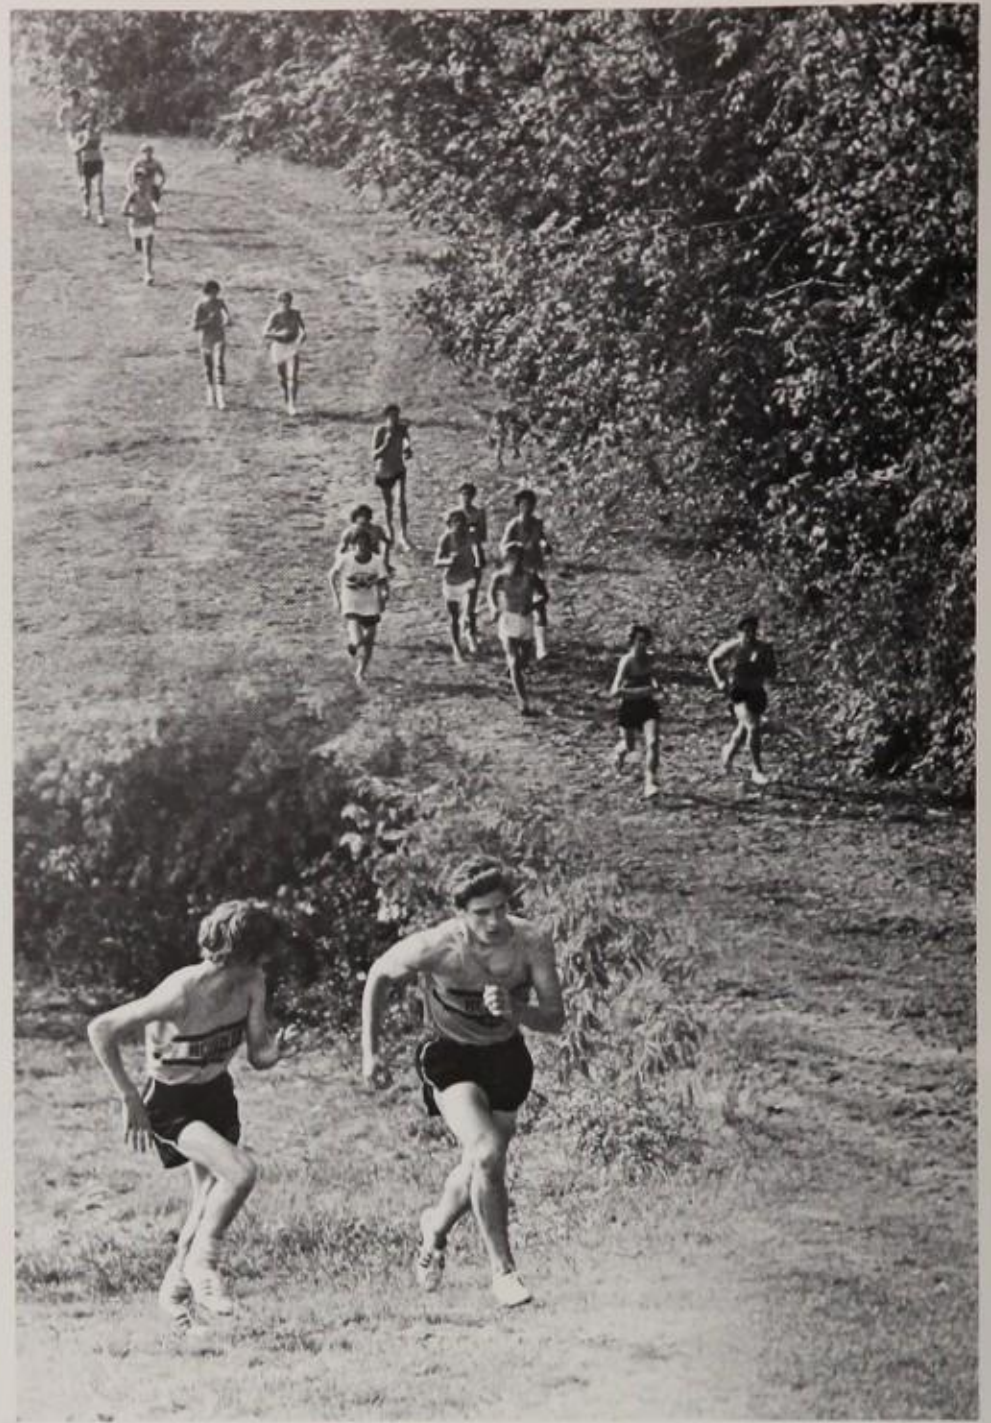

Chrysalis

Somehow I lived through that hectic first day, that strange first semester. Just as the caterpillar withdraws from the world into a chrysalis, I, too found the real world becoming secondary. My own joys, my own disappointments as a high school student became most important. Of course, I was aware of the world and concerned, but I was able to remain apart. Making the swim team and flunking a math test meant more to me than did the outcome of Watergate. I vaguely suspected that my world was unreal, my values only temporal, but these were only fleeting thoughts. I grew and matured in my "chrysalis."

The basketball team had another fine season, as "Cappeletti's Tigers" roared to a fourth place finish in the L.E.L., with a 12-6 record. Led by seniors Bruce Rodgers, Steve Orban and juniors Reggie Hannah and Lloyd Franklin the team almost pulled off upsets twice, but both times they were stopped in the last minute. The Junior Varsity went undefeated, which adds to what should be a championship team next year.

Girl's basketball this year enjoyed an upsurge in both spirit and involvement. Under the capable leadership of Coach Jean Martin, the team finished with a 3-5 record. Stalwarts of the team included seniors Cindy Musso, Lilli Mickler and Monica Kerrigan. Next year's outlook should be brighter with the return of promising players such as Kim Pattillo, Barb Maschke, and Lia Finney.

Outstanding team work and enthusiasm characterized the girls' volleyball team this year as it spiked to a perfect 7-0 record in regular season play. Seniors Debbie Humlert and Joan Baker led the team through the fantastic season which was climaxed by an exciting come-from-behind victory over arch rival Shaker. The team defeated another rival too as it outdid the boys football team in exhibition play.

The Girls Athletic Association, G.A.A., provides an opportunity for girls to become involved in intramural and interscholastic sports. Field Hockey, Volleyball, Basketball, Track, and Tennis are offered interscholastically, augmenting the extensive intramural program. Various smaller organizations operate within the framework of G.A.A. These include the G.A.A. Executive Board, Gym Cadets, Swim Cadets and Yellow Jackets. This year G.A.A. sold tube socks and sponsored playdays and potlucks for its members.

Yellow Jackets and H-Club are organizations for athletes who earned a Varsity letter in a sport.

What makes a person study a black and white board for hours at a time pondering a single move? An impressive trophy in Mr. Sauka's room just might. The Heights high Chess team defended its national title in New York this spring. Captained by Dean Hart the team won the Great Lakes league with an 8-0 record.

Demonstrating poise and grace, the Swim Cadets this year, as always, distinguished themselves among the organizations at Heights. Aside from practicing, staging two synchronized swim shows and always being in good spirits, the Swim Cadets perform the necessary task of teaching swimming and lifesaving for gym classes. Swim Timers, another distinguished group, timed all varsity meets for the boys' swim team.

In only their second year of existence the Girl's Swim Team earned their first victory ever with a one point win over Orange. The girls have made slow but steady progress under the direction of Miss Bruning. Next year with the addition of several fresh—from the junior highs, the girl's swim team should be tough in competition.

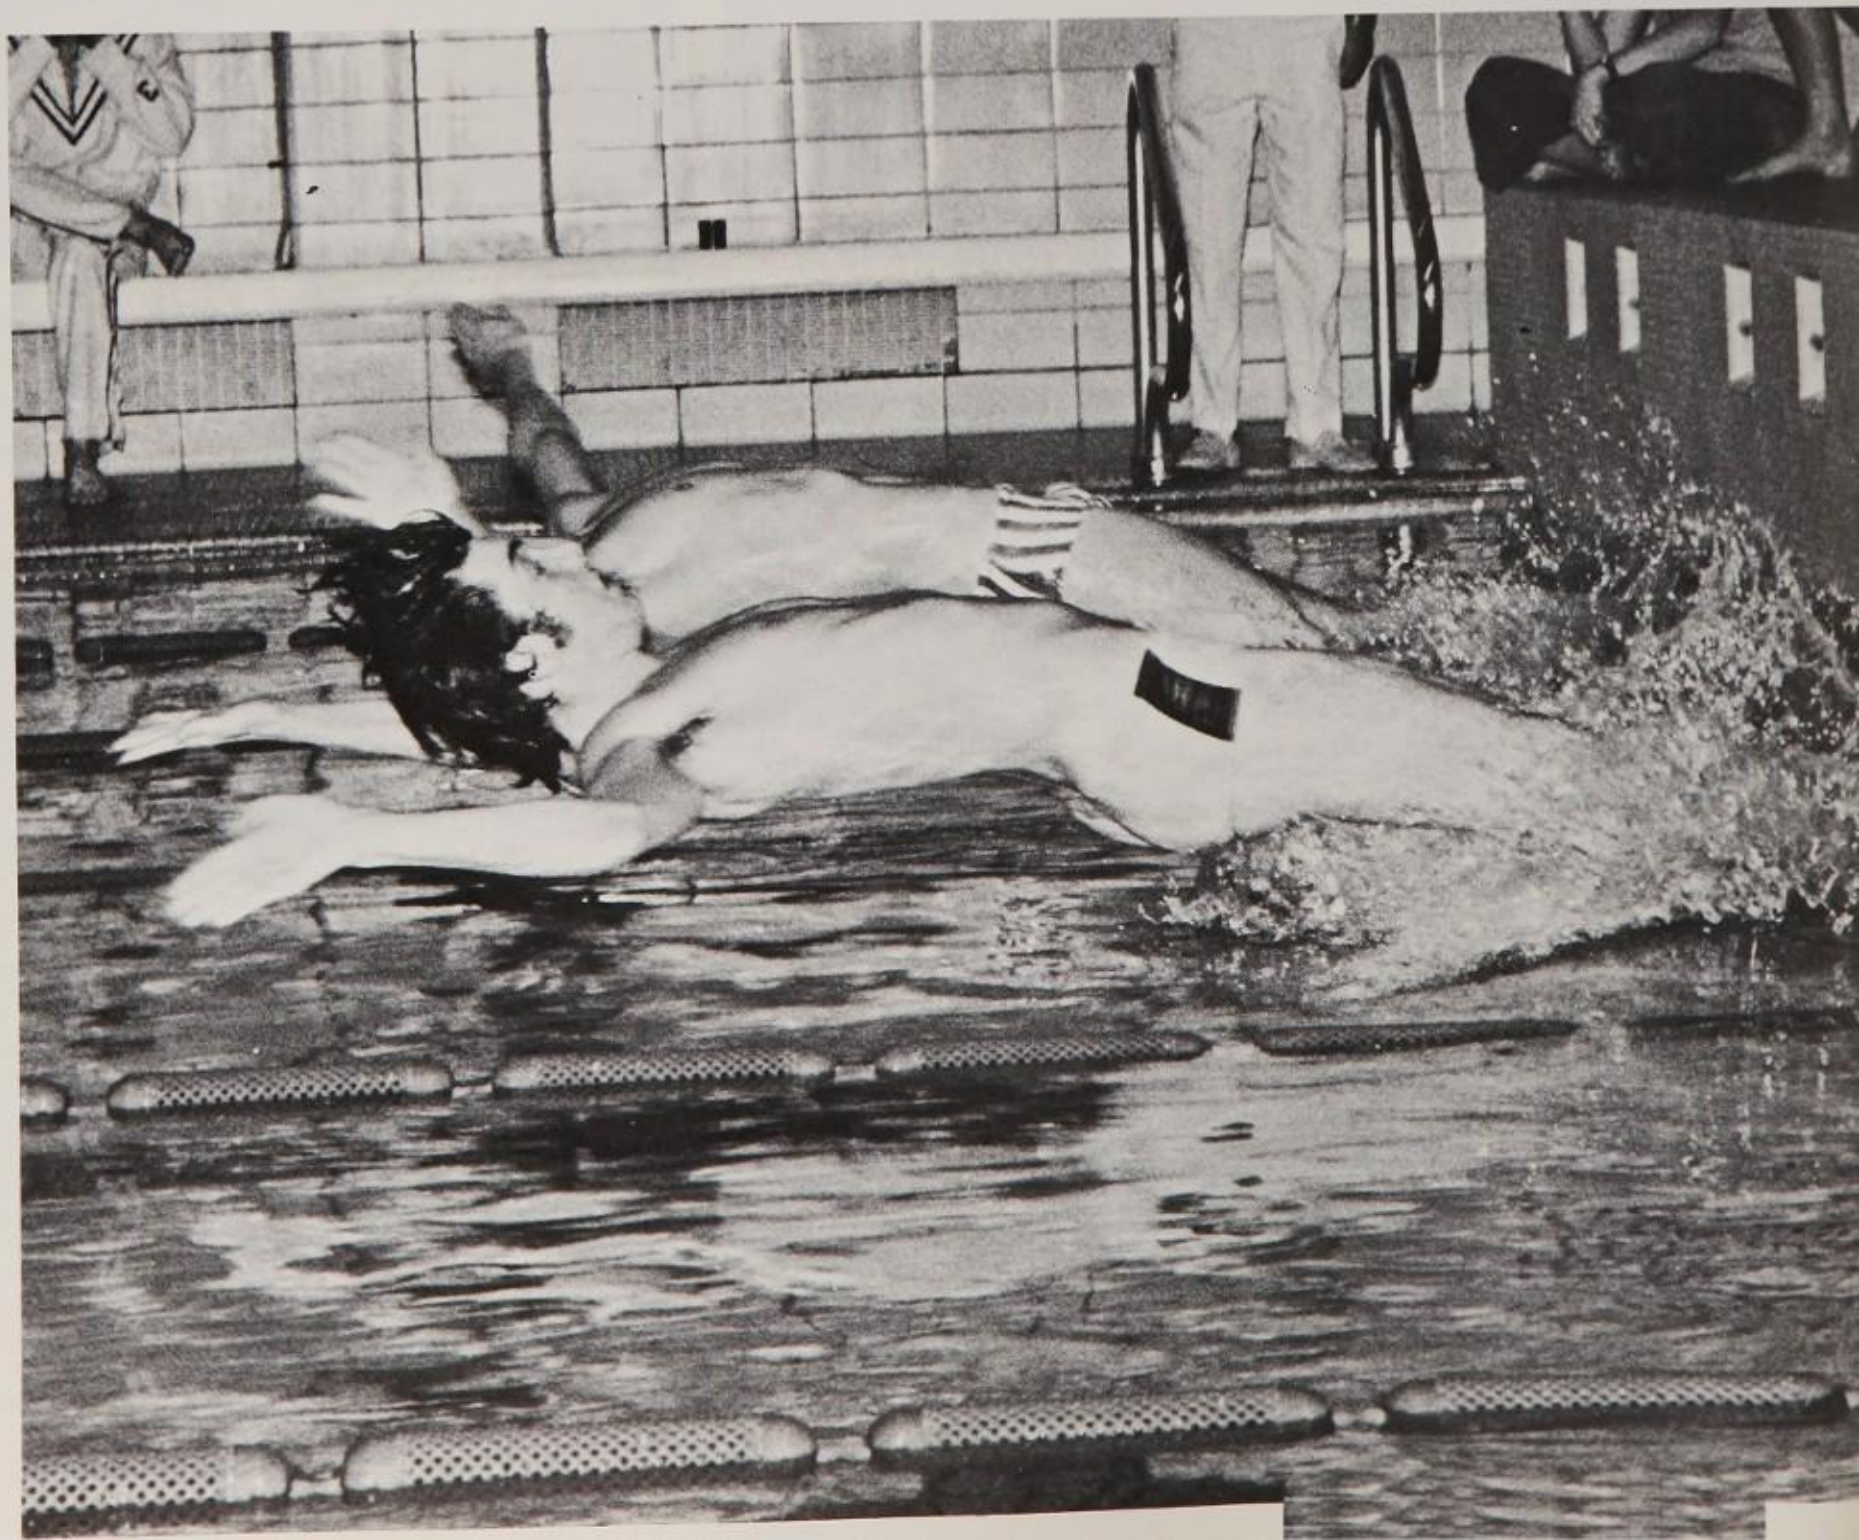

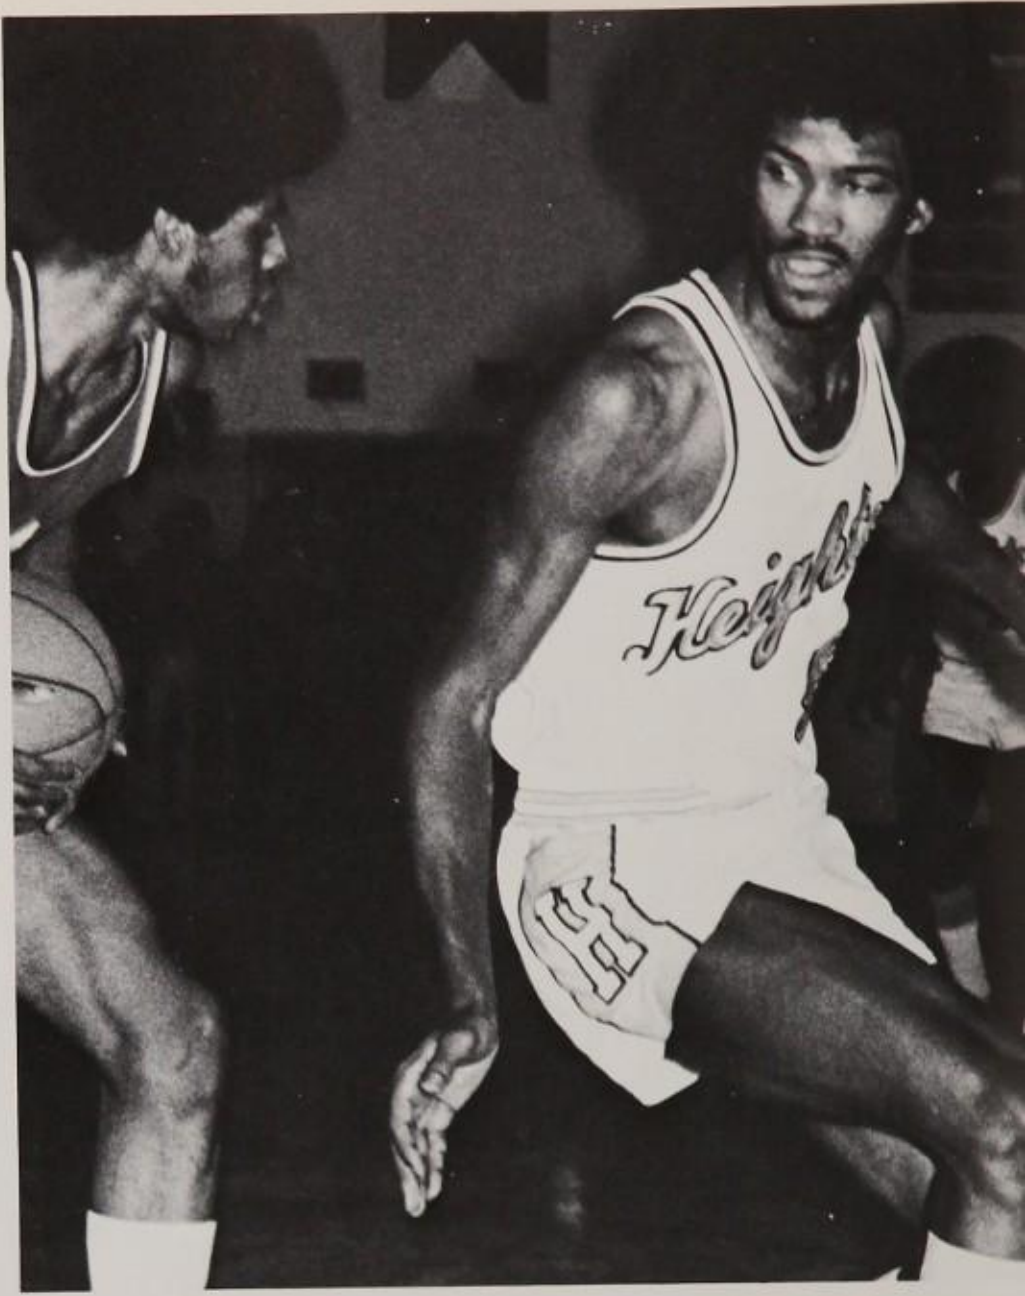

Girl's Swimming (1 win - 6 losses) Warren Western Reserve 51-34; Rocky River 58-19; Berea 76-9; Orange 58-19; Midpark 38-39; Lakewood 90 Euclid 60 Heights 17; Brush 72 W.P. Harding 52 Heights 13.

The Cleveland Heights tankers thrashed their way to a 7-6 record, highlighted by the victory against Berea. Led by captains Andy Esch and Alan Fisco, the team qualified Nick Jouriles, Bob Seekley, Matt Archibald, Brad Petot, Ted Dehrmann and the captains for the state meet. School records were set in the 100 yd. Free (Dehrmann), 200 I.M. (Archibald), 500 Free (Bill Berg), diving (Petot) and the Free Relay (Esch, Jouriles, Archibald, Dehrmann). Ten starters are returning for next year, which will make for an excellent team.

In the creative state a man is taken out of himself. He lets down as it were a bucket into his subconscious and draws up something which is normally beyond his reach. He mixes this thing with his normal experiences and out of the mixture he makes a work of art.

The Caldron staff has once again triumphed over the petty annoyances of minimal student support and little advertising revenue to produce a creative yearbook. Tempermental staff "geniuses" and a tough deadline schedule made yearbook production a difficult and at times nerve wracking proposition. The Black and Gold

Vol. 59, No. 3

Heights High School • Cleveland Heights, Ohio 44118

November 27, 1973

The Black and Gold, like many other Heights High organizations, fell victim to the deadly parasite, student apathy. Refusing to succumb to its poison however, the staff worked hard to produce a fine paper for those who bothered to read it. Increased coverage of school activities and more editorials enabled the paper to give a truer representation of the student body.

The buttons read "Heights Is Back" and Homecoming 1973 proved the fact. More effort and enthusiasm was generated by Homecoming this year than has been for several years. The weekend started with the Beat Brush Bonfire and climaxed with the crowning of 1973 Homecoming Queen Yolanda Farrell. Chosen from a court of six senior girls, Yolanda reigned at the semi-formal dance after the game.

"Yum, yum eat 'em up Tigers!"

Contrary to popular opinion student government is alive and well and still living at Heights High. Despite half-hearted student support, student council produced Intersession, wrote a new Students Rights and Responsibilities document and engineered student exchanges with other schools. Entertainment, too, occupied the minds of the officers who sponsored small concerts featuring local talent.

The councils of Units A and B worked hard to bring back class spirit and pride to the Juniors and Seniors. Unit C, which lacked a council, should perhaps be commended, too. Upheld once again this year was Height's long-standing musical talent as the 1973-74 orchestra displayed the talent and diversity of a superior musical group. This year marked the first time in the school's history that orchestra members were rewarded for their dedication and endless hours of practice. A full credit instead of the usual half was given to the members.

Highlights of the year included the second annual community "Messiah" sing, the first orchestra-only concert. It featured faculty member Joyce Braun as piano soloist. All superior ratings at the Regional High School Orchestra contest and the usual array of outstanding senior soloists were also much in evidence during the year.

Choir's director Mr. Edward Battaglia.

Choir just isn't fourth and fifth periods. It requires many long hours before and after school to produce the high quality of this organization. Practice starts even before school begins in September when Choir members can be found at Forest Hills at Choir Camp, a series of intense rehearsals. There are many concerts and presentations which require the presence of Choir members outside of the two concerts every year. They performed at the program about the Holocaust at the J.C.C., for the State Musical Convention in Columbus, O.M.E.A., along with winter caroling and candle lighting ceremonies. They are a service organization promoting music to the fourth floor, the school, the community and the world.

... and the beat goes on

In an effort to separate fact from fantasy in regards to the fourth floor, the Caldron staff has interviewed prominent members of the student body. Below is a text of those interviews.

The fourth floor is:
best place to go if you want to cut class.

before the fifth.

after the third.

a place where musically talented kids get together.

a place where I'm not welcome.

the worst place to be during a fire drill.

the worst place to have a 7:30 rehearsal.

a place nobody knows about.

where all the choir snobs and glee club witches hang out.

high class or a place to be high.

Spurred by the enthusiasm and creative skill of Director William D. Thomas, GGC-MC enjoyed an unsurpassed year in all respects. They were bound together both musically and socially by numerous group functions and fundraisers. Besides the two successful concerts that were presented in the school, there were various outside performances around the community. They also completed a highly successful tour to Boston during Spring vacation.

The Symphonic Band, under the direction of Mr. Terry L. Zipay, was very successful in its first year as a full credit course. Not only have the members gained valuable group playing experience, but they worked toward Mr. Zipay's goal of having each member play his part as if it were a solo. For the second straight year, the three band plan—Cadet, Concert, and Symphonic—has proven to be successful as band members play in groups according to ability. Hard work and dedication were amply rewarded as Symphonic Band toured the Toronto area this spring.

United Black Students was formed in December, 1971, to assist black students with their problems at Heights High School. During the first two years, the emphasis of the club was mainly social with a talent show and dances after sporting events as the primary activities. Last year, educational issues became the focus. Many college conferences and some campus visits were held. This year the attention to education continued with the encouragement of black student involvement in all phases of the high school program. U.B.S. has formed a Gospel Choir under the direction of Mr. Bill Tarter. Other advisers for U.B.S. include Ms. Esteva Caise, Ms. Billy-Jean Tally, and Mr. Art Brooks.

DRAMA

all that . . .

After several years of relative inactivity, the Drama Club has sprung to life under the direction of Mr. Frank Oberneyer. This year the Hts. Thespians did more than just act. They did "The Imaginary Invalid", "Curse You Jack Dalton" and rounded out the season with an all school musical, "Once Upon A Mattress." The club also participated in the "Haunted House", learned a great deal about off-stage things as well and became more active and independent.

Thirteen dramatists—The Heights Players—performed for English classes to help make Shakespeare a more enjoyable experience.

As for where all this talent comes from, there are many places. One large asset is that drama classes are offered in alternative English. One class even wrote and produced a musical comedy, "Give Em Hell, We'll Show 'Em Heaven Later," under the direction of Ms. Lefferts and Ms. McBride.

Despite an inherent tendency to coast downhill, the Ski Club thrived once again this year under the direction of that fearless duo, Ms. Lefferts and Ms. McBride. Members attributed the club's success to a number of factors. One is the proximity to such formidable peaks as Brandywine and Boston Mills that make Cleveland area skiing almost irresistible to the enthusiast. The predictability of Cleveland weather also insured skiers a long and fun-filled season.

The eventual confiscation and burning of all double-knit pants is the goal of the National Association for the Abolishment of Double-Knit Pants (N.A.A.D.P.). The club finds double-knit pants' wearers inhibited: afraid of climbing trees, sitting on grass and doing other "free-spirited" activities for fear of tearing their pants.

Overworked Heights students found relaxation and relief from pressure through the exhilarating game of hopscotch. The team ranked second in the state, losing only to Shaker in League play.

In our sophisticated world, as society grows more and more complex, it's a refreshing note to see young men reviving a simple, wholesome, American game. The checkhill club has brought excitement back to the game of checkers while keeping the school aroused through colorful bulletin announcements.

B/AUD and B/PROUD, the name and motto of one of the most spirited clubs at Heights, actually represents senior homeroom B/Auditorium. B/Aud members view their close-knit group as more than a homeroom. The Caldron salutes B/Aud's spirit yet wonders if the success of the club is not due, at least part, to the catchiness of the very name. Perhaps other homerooms would have developed into enthusiastic clubs had they not been burdened with such unrhythmical names as B/209 or A/Girls' Gym.

Checkhill Club: Cedarhill S., Sergehill C., Dorchill F., Kittkathill K., Overthehill T., Oscar, Austinhill J., Molehill J., Bunkerhill B., Bushman B., Zelman B., Belthill P., Skyhill T., Gunguhill B., Munyhill P., Fairhill D., Tarhill B.

B/Aud and B/Proud Club

Originally Intersession 1973-74 was planned for three separate days. After the November disaster, the January Intersession was cancelled. The cancellation left a lot of people confused as to whether Intersession has educational value. Is it truly a learning experience or just a break between semesters?

Actually the theory behind the Intersession program is sound. Staff and students have an opportunity to pursue unusual academic interests that can be of real educational value. Why then, were the halls virtually empty on November 12? Student Council president, Rachel Likeover attributed the failure to lack of student involvement in planning the program and considerable faculty dislike for the idea of Intersession. Those who did attend, were treated to some interesting courses. Topics ranged from karate to canoeing to movie-making. Clearly the Intersession program is a worthwhile one which Heights should continue to support.

Which is the 34 year old housewife? . . . the 79 year old go-go dancer?

I've got rhythmn! (Contact Planned Parenthood for more information.)

Can you canoe?

... because that is something everybody does in the same language.

Gowri Chilrabeh, here from Ceylon finds the snow to be the most amazing thing about Cleveland. Before she came here she had only seen it in pictures.

Vroni Langer found the language difference to be the biggest problem in adjusting. She finds Heights High students to be a little more outgoing than the students back in her hometown in Austria.

The A.F.S. Club tries to provide the exchange students with a homebase at Heights. Coming into Heights as a sophomore is scary enough, but coming into it as a stranger in a foreign country is almost terrifying. Helping the students adjust at home are their host sisters, who are joined by other A.F.S. club members in school situations. The club also plans social functions so the students can meet the other exchange students in the Cleveland area. There are a lot of unusual and interesting students to be met, and the American Field Service Club is glad to help introduce these students.

Far better it is to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered by failure, than to take rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much because they live in the gray twilight that knows not victory nor defeat.

This page is dedicated to all those who didn't feel the need to become involved.

Butterfly

Then, suddenly, after what has seemed like ages and yet has passed too quickly, it's all over. College, a job, voting, . . . the world seems to be closing in. I'm still in the same old courses, but it's not the same. I'm growing away from this school. Perhaps, like the butterfly emerging from the chrysalis, I'm just reawakening to the fact that there is a world outside. The real concerns and problems of this world are my concerns more now than ever before. Heights High, for me, is over. Heights is still the same. I have changed.

Do you remember

... Giving and getting the "kooties" ... clapping erasers ... being bus monitor ... go-go boots and mini skirts ... shorts under skirts on gym days ... S.R.A. ... 2:30 days ... giving and receiving valentines ... baseball cards ... being a safety patrolman ... 5th grade camp ... beating up 3rd graders ... being called kindergarten baby ... N.E.O.T.A. day ... cub scouts and brownies ... Mrs. Krebs and chicken fat ... snowball fights ... the gym apparatus ... flash cards ... library once a week ... counting men ... field trips to North Chagrin ... sixth grade graduation and picnic ... class pictures ... a.m. and p.m. kindergarten

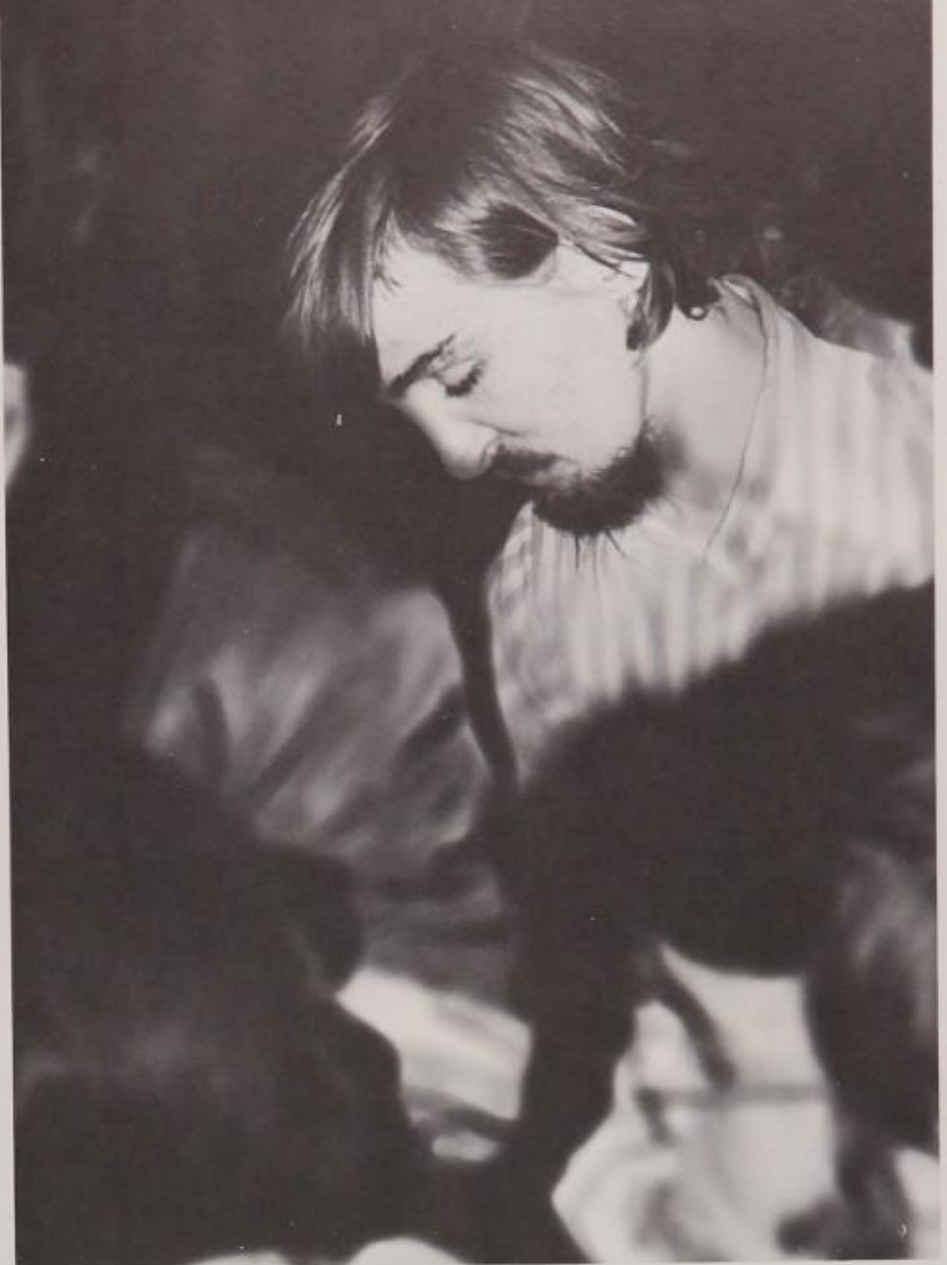

Well, this is it. After thirteen years of trials and glories, it all ends so abruptly. From that September back in 1961 when we were led tearfully to the first day of kindergarten until now . . . We've shared all of the happiness, sadness, joys and frustrations. Now it's gone. Friendships carefully cultivated throughout the years will slowly fade away or be replaced by new ones. We've changed and grown as a whole; now we're going off on our own. We have some fears for our future and a lot of memories of our past. One thing is certain: we're through . . . the end of the beginning . . . WHEW!!!

We, the Senior Class of '74, say "good-bye and Good luck" to our teachers, administrators, and friends.

We, the Caldron staff leave J. Matava, our cache of pornographic pictures for his own private use.

It's been fifty years since the enterprising members of the Class of 1924 decided that "yearbook" wasn't an appropriate title for their nostalgic annual and settled on the name CALDRON. In those fifty years, many things have happened—three major wars; a great depression and a New Deal; commie-hunts; man's first steps on the moon; Teapot Dome and Watergate; plastics—and yet every year the graduating class of Cleveland Heights High School publishes its own, special CALDRON reflecting its own unique world: memories, thoughts and personalities.

Gazing out on the soon to be "renovated" courtyard, it becomes evident that a new era is upon us. Yet, rest assured that fifty years from now, inside the glass-sided walls of the new building, an enterprising editor, pressured by a deadline and at a total loss for creative prose, will be pounding out Happy One-Hundredth Birthday copy for CALDRON.
